Marines Land In Thailand

U.S. Expects Buildup Aid From Allies

Kennedy's Action Endorsed By All SEATO Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials reported Wednesday night they expect Australia and New Zealand and perhaps other Pacific allies to send some military forces to Thailand.

This word reached Washington after a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting held in Bangkok as the U.S. troop buildup began in Thailand.

The United States has been prodding its allies to join the U.S. action which President Kennedy took to bolster the defenses of Thailand and increase pressure against a Communist takeover in neighboring Laos.

SEATO Members Approve

U.S. authorities said all the SEATO members—which include Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and Pakistan plus the United States and Thailand—had responded favorably to Kennedy's action.

They said Australia and New Zealand have indicated they will send some armed contingents to Thailand provided the proper request is received from that country.

The size and type of such forces was not disclosed but presumably would be fewer than the 5,000 U.S. combat troops and air support assigned to Thailand by Kennedy.

Philippines Undecided

The Philippines were reported still discussing the question of whether to offer troop aid while the response of Pakistan was not yet known here.

It was not expected likely that Britain and France would send forces. However, London publicly expressed its backing of the U.S. action Wednesday and France, U.S. officials said, has been helpful in the diplomatic push for a resumption of negotiations by rival Laotian factions for a nationwide, neutral government.

At the same time U.S. diplomats kept the way open for a tactical backdown on cease-fire demands if necessary to bring about a successful solution of the Laos crisis.

Man Down In Marine Contest

Salan Accepts Secret Army Responsibility

PARIS (UPI)—Former Gen. Raoul Salan, on trial for his life on charges of heading the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS), testified Wednesday in a slow, calm voice that he accepts "full responsibility" for its actions.

Spectators fell silent in the heavily guarded courtroom when Salan, France's most decorated soldier, stood up to read his 30-minute statement to the military tribunal.

"I am the head of the OAS," he said. "As such, my responsibility is complete. I accept full responsibility, since I do not intend to step out of a line of conduct which was mine during 42 years of command."

Although one of the charges is that the OAS, under Salan's leadership, killed 415 persons in terrorist attacks, he said: 'I am not the leader of an armed band, but a French general representing a victorious and not a defeated army."

Salan ended his statement with the words: "From now on I will keep my silence," and he refused to answer questions by the court president.

In his statement he traced his role in the two Algerian military uprisings of the past four years: The 1958 revolt that brought President Charles de Gaulle to power, and the April, 1961, coup that he headed against De Gaulle. Leadership of that coup is among the charges against him.

His statement Wednesday attacked Gaulle by implication.

"The difference between me and the one who is asking you to kill me is that I served most of my time in the army outside metropolitan France," Salan said.

Man Who Chose Russia Coming Back To U.S.A.

MOSCOW (AP) — Robert Webster, 33, who renounced his American citizenship three years ago, has decided to go back to the United States.

A U.S. Embassy official said Wednesday Webster probably will leave at the end of the week. He no longer holds an American passport but has received an American visa on his Soviet passport.

Webster told correspondents he wanted to go home and indicated he was primarily motivated by a desire to see the wife and two children he left in Cleveland, Ohio.

Webster worked in the plastics display at the American exposition in 1959. In October of that year he notified American authorities he was giving up his American citizenship to remain in the Soviet Union.

De Gaulle Fills Breach As Five Ministers Quit

PARIS (AP)—Five Cabinet ministers suddenly resigned Wednesday, creating the first rift in President Charles de Gaulle's recently revamped government. But De Gaulle quickly filled the breach with new appointees and left on schedule for a four-day tour of central France.

The five who resigned are members of the Catholic Popular Republican party. They quit because De Gaulle continued to oppose their idea of a politically integrated Europe. More immediately pressing factors — Algerian bloodshed and a series of strikes in France — did not figure in the Cabinet walkout.

The departure of the five removed one of the meager political underpinnings of the Gaullist Cabinet, leaving it more than ever a team of nonparty technicians.

After hours of consultations, the recently installed Premier Georges Pompidou announced a reshuffled team with Pompidou himself taking over the additional duties of the minister of regional planning.

As expected, the newcomers are mostly technicians. Georges Gorse movedup from an undersecretary post to take over the ministry in charge of cooperation with the new states of Africa.

Gilbert Grandval, recently secretary of state for foreign trade, took over as minister of labor.

Raymond Marcellin, a conservative deputy and the only newcomer to Cabinet rank in this administration, was named minister of health.

The breaking point in the revolt came at a conference Monday when De Gaulle lashed out at those who seek a supranational Europe of integrated states.

"There is not and cannot possibly be any other Europe than the Europe of states, aside naturally from dreams, fictions and parades," he declared.

From his front-row seat at the conference, Popular Republican leader Pierre Pflimlin, the man who was last premier of the Fourth Republic and gave in to De Gaulle's return, listened whitefaced with anger.

He stormed out of the news conference saying: "It's even worse than I feared. This may mean our departure."

Within hours it did.

Pflimlin and his four party colleagues sent Premier Georges Pompidou their collective letter of resignation and asked him to relay it to De Gaulle.

Casbah Shelled By OAS; 5 Die

ALGIERS (AP)—Secret Army Organization terrorists varied their slaughter Wednesday by lobbing about 10 mortar shells into the ancient Casbah, where Arabs and Berbers live packed in tiny concrete and stucco cubicles. Five Moslems were killed and 15 wounded.

The day's full toll of guns and exploding mortar shells was at least 30 dead.

Among the victims were two Europeans. A woman was shot seven times in the head while tending her book store. A Roman Catholic priest was shot dead from ambush while opening his garage door.

Police officials laid both killings as well as the deaths of 28 Moslems at the door of the secret army, which is trying to stir up racial enmities to a point that will block Algerian independence.

Ten Europeans stormed into a suburban police station, neutralized policemen on duty and raked the cells with gun fire. A Moslem was killed and six were critically wounded.

Medicare Ad Ban Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association's rejection of an advertisement backing President Kennedy's health care for the aged plan brought a protest Wednesday from a group of physicians who support the plan.

Dr. Caldwell B. Esselstyn of Hudson, N.Y., chairman of the committee for health care for the aged through Social Security, said the AMA had refused to publish the ad submitted by his group in either the AMA Journal or AMA News.

He told a news conference the refusal was "quite inconsistent with the AMA slogan of 'free choice,' " and added: "This stand is consistent with the policy of protecting the AMA membership from any exposure to an unemotional presentation of facts proving the necessity and the need for financing certain basic costs of the aged through Social Security."

An AMA spokesman in Chicago said the ad was turned down as "misleading and deceptive."

Esselstyn said the committee will continue its efforts to "get this important message before the doctors of the nation." The ad dispues the AMA contention that he Kennedy plan would lead to socialized medicine.

News Session On TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's news conference at 3:30 p.m. EDT Thursday will be carried live by all radio networks and by the CBS and ABC television networks, the White House said Wednesday.

Today's Chuckle

Waldorf Goes On Picnic Rations In Service Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The stately Waldorf-Astoria, one of the world's great hotels, went on picnic rations in its grand ballroom Wednesday because of a wildcat strike of service help.

Some 1,000 guests at a $20-a-plate luncheon for an organization for the blind were supposed to get a four-course meal. Instead they ate cheese, tuna fish and egg salad sandwiches, and drank pineapple juice, orange juice, or coffee.

Instead of waiters the guests were served by youthful clerical workers—the men in shirtsleeves but some of the girls bedecked in finery and flowery hats.

Other clerical help took the place of striking kitchen workers to prepare the austere repast. Although there was no refund on the meal, the guests took the culinary letdown in stride, and many seemed intrigued by the novelty of the occasion.

"I have had no complaints of any kind from the guests," said Waldorf Manager Thomas Kane.

The strike of waiters, bellhops, doormen, elevator operators, and kitchen help closed all seven public restaurants in the 42-story hotel at Park Avenue and 49th Street, including the smart Empire Room, one of the city's plushest supper clubs.

Of four bars, only one was open —the Bull and the Bear, which is stag at luncheon but admits women later in the day.

As a result, most of the hotel's 1,600 room guests had to do their dining and drinking elsewhere. A downtown restaurant sent a hansom cab with two pretty girl models to the Park Avenue entrance of the Waldorf to try to lure hotel guests to its tables.

Estes Subpoenaed; Full Probe By Senate Looms

Freeman Says He Is Willing To Be Quizzed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators have subpoenaed Billie Sol Estes, and their chairman Tuesday started the machinery for a full investigation of the Texan's business dealings.

Sen. John L. McClellan, chairman of the Senate's permanent investigation subcommittee, said he will ask his group Thursday to vote formal approval of the inquiry. Members will be briefed on findings so far about Estes now-crumbling financial empire, he said.

In another phase of the case, court records showed Wednesday that two psychiatrists found Mary K. Jones, 51-year-old secretary in the Agriculture Department, to be in need of treatment for mental disease after she was taken to a local hospital last month.

Sen. Williams Skeptical

The office of Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said the finding "hasn't changed his mind one bit" on his charge that the woman was forcibly taken to the hospital because she knew too much about the Estes matter.

Just after Williams made his charge, Republicans in both Houses of Congress demanded that Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman resign.

Disclosure that Estes had been summoned as a Senate witness came as Freeman assured the House Agriculture Committee that he would be willing to undergo questioning on the Estes affair "in due time." That committee has not decided yet whether to hold hearings.

It seemed certain that McClellan's subcommittee would authorize the investigation of dealings that led to Estes' federal indictment for fraud. The chairman said he would ask for closed sessions first, to be followed by public hearings.

No Appearance Date Set

A spokesman for the subcommittee, which is expected to take up the case in three to four weeks, said the subpoena was served on Estes in Texas Sunday but that no appearance date was set.

The spokesman said investigators also had ordered Estes' personal business records and data on about 40 bank accounts, along with the Agriculture Department's records on the case.

A number of subcommittee investigators are in Texas delving into Estes' dealings, the spokesman said. But he declined to say whether any other witnesses had been subpoenaed.

Four government officials have lost their jobs because of disclosures made so far in the Estes case. The latest was former Assistant Agriculture Secretary James T. Ralph, fired by Freeman Tuesday night.

LeMay Renews RS70 Fund Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay made a new stab in Congress Wednesday at speeding up development of the big RS70 reconnaissance strike plane, asking $491 million—nearly three times what President Kennedy requested.

LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that limiting the total to Kennedy's figure means "we would lose more than a year" beyond the 1967 target date for the first three prototype planes. He said production lines would have to be reformed and operators trained.

Already, LeMay said, "this program has been slowed down at least four years. We have delayed until there is practically no risk in it now."

The four-star general was backed by other Air Force generals. They included Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, top Air Force research and development expert. He told the senators that holding the spending to Kennedy's total in the fiscal year starting next July 1 would result in "costing you more in the end."

LeMay, who openly has voiced several vigorous pleas to Congress for more money to make the RS70 a fully usable weapon sooner, made it clear he has lost several appeals to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Wreckage Of Missing AF Plane Spotted

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — An American search plane reported Wednesday it had sighted the burned wreckage in the mountain wilderness of central Mexico of a U. S. Air Force T29 plane missing with nine men aboard.

The T29, based at Harlingen, Tex. Air Force Base, was last heard from at 6:40 P.M. EDT Monday.

Carpenter In Final Phase Of Training For Orbital Flight

Wife To Witness Launch, Set Saturday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, his pretty blonde wife Rene nearby, intensified preparations Wednesday for his scheduled round-the-world orbit ride Saturday.

As the launching drew near, Project Mercury officials kept an anxious eye on a weather problem in the Atlantic Ocean east of Bermuda—in an area where Carpenter's Aurora 7 spacecraft would land if it did not achieve a proper orbit and had to be commanded down after separation from the Atlas booster rocket.

Swells were reported running 11 feet high in this area. But it was expected the seas would calm by Saturday. Newsmen were to be briefed on the weather Thursday morning.

Rene Carpenter, fulfilling a wish expressed many times, will be in the town of Cocoa Beach, five miles from Cape Canaveral, when the Atlas blasts her husband skyward toward an intended three orbits of the earth.

She will be the first of the astronauts' wives to be in the cape area to watch her husband fired into space. The wives of Alan B. Shepard Jr., Virgil I. Grissom, and John H. Glenn Jr. remained in their Virginia homes and viewed the launchings on television.

Mrs. Carpenter is staying at a private home in Cocoa Beach, and Carpenter reportedly has visited her during the week when his training permitted.

Recently stating her desire to be nearby when Carpenter is launched, Rene said: "There's nothing at all like it—to stand on the beach and see it go up—and the prayerful attitude of the crowd."

She has witnessed many missile launchings from the beaches while visiting here when Carpenter's work brought him to Cape Canaveral.

It was not known yet whether the four Carpenter children would also be here. They are Mark Scott, 12; Robyn, 10; Kristine Elaine, 6; and Candace Noxon, 5. They are at the family home at Langley Air Force Base, Va.

Carpenter, 37, a Navy lieutenant commander, climbed into a procedures trainer Wednesday to make once again a simulated flight. He then attended a mission review meeting at which condition of capsule, Atlas, worldwide tracking network and other elements were assessed.

All were reported in "go" condition.

Carpenter's flight course will duplicate that flown by Glenn when he became the first American to orbit the earth last Feb. 20. However, Carpenter is to perform a greater number of observations and experiments.

Midwest's Record Heat Wave Continues

By The Associated Press

Parts of the Midwest sweltered through the third straight day of a record heat wave Wednesday.

Much cooler air covered New England and the Rockies, and snow fell in the mountains of New Mexico.

The mercury soared to a record May 16 high of 94 in Chicago, after hitting record highs of 91 Monday and Tuesday. The old May 16 record of 89 was set in 1911.

Khrushchev Says Soviet To Renew Nuclear Tests

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — Premier Khrushchev made it official Wednesday: the Soviet Union is preparing a new series of nuclear tests to follow up U.S. blasts in the Pacific.

"We are forced to renew our tests because, despite our appeals, the Americans did not refrain from renewing theirs," the Soviet leader told Western newsmen covering his state visit to Bulgaria.

Khrushchev gave no indication just when the Soviet launching pads—which ran off a series of heavy atmospheric blasts last fall —will be put back to work.

He talked with the Western correspondents after delivering a speech from the City Hall balcony to 30,000 Bulgarians in the main square of Varna, Bulgaria's Miami Beach.

In that speech he charged that the newsmen, who were grouped beneath the balcony, "cannot understand things as they are."

Pointing at them, he said: "I ask you to come to your senses in time and understand things as they are. I ask you to contribute to the common effort to explain things as they are. Through your ignorance you are sawing off the branch you are sitting on."

Khrushchev surprised Westerners with a warm reference to Yugoslavia, the first such friendly words spoken about President Tito's Communist country here in years.

While Bulgarian party boss Todor Zhivkov stood unsmiling at his side, Khrushchev said: "Our relations with Yugoslavia were rather strained previously, but now I can say with satisfaction that our relations are normal, and I would even say good."

Leatherneck Units To Man Border Posts

Swift American Jet Fighters, Bombers Arrive In Bangkok

BANGKOK, Thailand, Thursday (UPI) — American Marines armed for combat began landing in Thailand by helicopter and assault boat today to back up President Kennedy's pledge to guard the country against possible invasion from Communist-held-areas of neighboring Laos.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — About 1,800 American Leathernecks begin landing four miles from the heart of Bangkok Thursday to put teeth into President Kennedy's pledge to defend Thailand from the Communist threat in Laos.

The first wave of Marines was to come ashore at Klong Toey and board Thai army trucks for Don Muang Airport at once. They will be flown by U.S. C130 Hercules transports to bases in northern Thailand near the sensitive northeast border with Communist-menaced Laos.

Three warships from the U.S. 7th Fleet steamed into the Gulf of Siam Wednesday night.

While the Valley Forge anchored off shore, the landing ship Point Defiance and the attack transport Navarro steamed up Chao Phya River to dock at Klong Toey and discharge Marines and equipment.

U.S. Supersabre jets already were deployed Ta Khli Airbase 60 miles north of Bangkok.

Allies May Send Units

Already Thailand has moved crack Thai units with U.S. military advisers to the border. There they and the Marines may be joined before long by at least token units from other Southeast Asia Treaty Organization members, whose officials are in consultation on the crisis in Laos.

The first of about 45 U.S. Air Force jet fighter-bomber and attack planes streaked to a landing at Bangkok's airport Wednesday, only a few hours after President Kennedy and the Pentagon had announced plans to build up a 5,000-man Southeast Asian combat command on Laos' border.

The first arrivals were 12 F100 Supersabres, each packing four 20-mm. cannon and capable of carrying heavy packages of conventional or nuclear bombs at 1,000-mile-per-hour speeds. They flew from the 13th Air Force Squadron base at Clark Field in the Philippines.

A squadron of slower but mighty A4D Skyhawks, which can carry up to three tons of bombs, also was included in the buildup. They also are capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

Richardson In Command

The Marines reinforce a 1,000-man Army combat group that remained in Thailand after SEATO maneuvers two weeks ago. Additional Army men from the Pacific command will arrive later.

The entire force is under the command of Lt. Gen. James L. Richardson, 52, an export in jungle and guerrilla warfare. He will act under the over-all direction of Gen. Paul D. Harkins, chief of the U.S. military assistance command in South Viet Nam.

Military sources said big C124 and C130 transports would be flown to Bangkok to ferry the Marines immediately to positions in northeast Thailand.

The purpose of the buildup was underscored by a statement from the SEATO council issued at its headquarters in Bangkok.

Western nations fear an offensive by Prince Souphanouvong's pro-Communist Pathet Lao, which has swept over northwestern Laos in the last two weeks, bodes ill for Thailand.

The statement said the American buildup was "entirely precautionary and defensive in character but that it also served as warning that any Communist aggression will be resisted."

20 Indo Invaders Captured By Dutch

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Dutch authorities Wednesday announced capture of 20 Indonesians in the vest-pocket war at the tip of West New Guinea.

The government said the Indonesians, wearing camouflage uniforms and bearing rifles, submachine guns and grenades, were rounded up by marines while trying to land in a boat near Fakfak Tuesday.

The captives were identified as members of the mobile brigade of the Indonesian state police. They were quoted as saying they had orders to infiltrate near Fakfak, a copra port of 5,000 on the Ceram Sea.

Georgia's Use Of Segregated Voting Facilities Challenged By Government

MACON, Ga. (UPI) — The federal government widened the scope of its battle against voter discrimination in the South on Wednesday by filing its first suit challenging the use of segregated voting machines.

Attorneys for the Justice Department filed action against Bibb County (Macon), Ga., officials in U. S. District Court at Macon.

It seeks a preliminary injunction forbidding voting officials both from segregating voting booths and from counting white and Negro votes separately.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who first announced the suit in Washington, said it was the first government action challenging segregation in the actual physical conduct of elections.

The complaint charged that Bibb County officials and the county's Democratic executive were planning to require Negroes to vote at segregated polling places in the Sept. 12 primary elections.

Federal Judge W. A. Bootle set a hearing on the matter for May 23. Bootle ruled last year in a case involving Albany, Ga. that racial discrimination during the voting process was unconstitutional.

There are 13 polling areas in Bibb County and in 10 of them whites and Negroes vote separately. Three rural precincts are integrated.

Negroes in the area asked voting authorities last October and again this April to desegregate all voting booths. This was done in a city election in Macon just last week, but officials said there wasn't time to work out details of integrating on a county-wide basis before the Sept. 12 balloting.

Refunds Made By Brokerage Firm In 'Goof'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's biggest brokerage house disclosed Wednesday it returned $116,000 to customers because "we goofed" in selling them a stock at almost peak price only to have its value plummet.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., told the Securities and Exchange Commission such sales won't happen again.

The firm said it cracked down on the eight salesmen involved, fining them $500 to $2,000 for urging the customers to buy the stock of a cigarette filter company.

The stock of the firm, Aqua-filter Corp., rose from 25 cents a share in 1960 to a high of $6.75 last year and then dropped to a current quotation of 37 cents.

The episode was described at an SEC hearing to determine whether the commission should recommend that Congress give it more controls over the selling of securities or should impose new regulations.

Donald T. Regan, vice president and secretary of the brokerage firm with 150 offices, cited sales in four California branches in saying human failings lead to occasional lapses in the most carefully managed businesses.

But when that happens, he said, the firm moves promptly to discipline trose responsible and make good losses to customers.

Moscow News Lines Leased

MOSCOW (AP)—The U.S. and French news agencies are being linked to their Moscow bureaus by means of leased lines.

The lines, which will run from Moscow to Stockholm and thence to London or Paris, were being tested Wednesday.

Users will be The Associated Press, United Press International and the French Press Agency. Each news service pays rent for the lines on the basis of international tariffs keyed to mileage.

Through a cable linkup at London, news gathered by AP correspondents in Moscow will be relayed automatically to the United States.

Up to now, most news has been telephoned from Moscow or sent over comparatively slow commercial telegraph facilities. At one time all news originating in the Soviet Union had to be submitted to censorship, but that restriction was abolished last year.

The Soviet government gave permission several months ago for Reuters, British news agency, to set up a wire link between Moscow and London.

Allegheny Airlines Secures Big Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allegheny Airlines said Wednesday it has completed arrangements for new and additional financing totaling $7½ million.

Leslie O. Barnes, Allegheny's president, said the financing was obtained from the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, the Riggs National Bank of Washington, and the Aetna Life Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn. It runs for 9½ years.

The financing would be used to retire existing loans of $1,750,000 with Chase and Riggs, and for the purchase of additional 52-passenger Convair 440 aircraft.

About $1.5 million will be added to working capital.

Reds Pledge No Attack On Laos Border Town

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)— The international truce team for Laos Wednesday said pro - Communist rebel forces have promised to refrain from assaulting the border town of Ban Houei Sai unless attacked first by Royal Laotian government troops.

The rebels, however, refused to say whether they would withdraw their forces to the cease-fire line.

(The Communist New China news agency said the Laotian rebels declared they would not hand back the northwestern provincial capital of Nam Tha to government forces. The agency quoted Quinim Pholsena, a rebel diplomat who took part in the Geneva conference of Laos, as describing such demands as "preposterous.")

China's Refugee Policy Reversal Mystifies West

HONG KONG (AP) — Western intelligence experts pondered Wednesday the mystery of Red China's reversed refugee policy. The best estimates were that Peiping sees big benefits in letting its unhappy masses batter in vain against the doors of freedom.

Until recent weeks Communist border guards used guns to stop refugees from reaching this British colony on Communist China's doorstep.

But now they are advising the thousands who try to reach Hong Kong every night just where and how to make the attempt.

The result has been a mounting flow of desperate refugees toward the haven of Hong Kong. Fearing that the already overcrowded colony of 3.2 million inhabitants will be swamped in the deluge, the British administration has stiffened its border contingents to turn the refugees back.

Several experts on China discount the view that Communist authorities have lost effective control of the rural population in South China.

What's behind it then? Experts suggest these possibilities:

1. Escapes are a cheap safety valve against mass uprisings.
2. The danger of famine in south China is acute.
3. The Communists are deliberately seeking to embarrass the British government.

Ike Republicans Win Nebraska, Pennsy Races

By United Press International

Two Eisenhower Republicans rolled to easy gubernatorial nominations Tuesday as three states held their off-year primary elections.

Fred Seaton, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's interior secretary, won the GOP nomination for governor of Nebraska in a landslide over rancher George Clarke. He will run against incumbent Frank B. Morrison, who sewed up the Democratic renomination.

In Pennsylvania, William W. Scranton of Scranton won the nomination for governor by a margin of about 5 to 1. His opponent in the general election will be former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, who won by about the same margin over businessman Harvey S. Johnston on the Democratic side.

Scranton was virtually handpicked by Eisenhower as a GOP candidate.

One upset was registered and another in the making to highlight the primaries, which included gubernatorial and congressional races in Maryland.

Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, R-Pa., a house member since 1947, was losing to James Weaver, an Erie physician, in Pennsylvania's 24th District.

And in a Nebraska contest that had to cost an incumbent congresscan his seat, freshman Rep. Ralph Beermann defeated Rep. Phil Weaver, who was seeking his fifth term. The two were thrown against each other when the state lost a seat through reapportionment.

Otherwise, the voting pretty well followed the form book.

Maryland's Gov. J. Millard Tawes easily defeated five other candidates in the Democratic primary and will run for his second term in the state house against Frank Small Jr., former vehicles commissioner who won the GOP nomination.

35-Hour Week Union Aim

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)— The Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union made it clear Wednesday that it wants a 35-hour work week with no reduction in pay, regardless of the wishes of the Kennedy administration.

Delegates to the union's biennial convention cheered and pounded their feet for almost five minutes in supporting a resolution that specifically authorized the goal in the next negotiations in the men's apparel industries.

The 35-hour work week with no pay cut has been the main point of emphasis since the convention began Monday.

Beside calling for the shorter work week in its own industries, the 400,000-member union passed another resolution similar to one already approved, both urging Congress to make the 35-hour week a standard by amending the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Wednesday's action was taken despite disapproval voiced for the administration Tuesday by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market analysts are applying a calendar test to try to determine whether Monday's reversal was just another zig or actually the beginning of a general rise.

"The first thing the market must do now to continue looking impressive is rally for a longer period than it did on May 1," said Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton and Co.

"It won't take long to have an answer because the last rally only lasted three days. This one looks like it will have longer life."

Granville said the heavy selling Monday seemed to set the stage for the big-zag line to head upward.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel and Co. was another of those cheered by the market action.

He said it could well mean a recovery of substantial proportions, though with periodic fluctuations.

The Bach market letter was not quite as hearty:

"While yesterday's action cannot, at this moment, be considered fully conclusive, it could well be the beginning of a better tone for the short term. More evidence, in terms of actual market performance, will have to be supplied before we can feel with greater certainty that an area of major support has been reached."

Garden Club To Support Crainsville Swamp Project

Flower Show To Be Sept. 10-11

The Garden Club of Cumberland will support the Crainsville Swamp Conservation project and planned the fall flower show at the meeting Monday evening. Mrs. J. D. Gibson conducted the meeting at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, flower show chairman, announced that a fall flower show will be held September 10 and 11, in Emmanuel Episcopal parish hall. Schedules for the show will be available in June.

After discussion the club voted in favor of supporting the Crainsville Swamp Conservation project. A request for support was received by the club several months ago and the matter has been under advisement since then.

Robert Phillips, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the slate Mrs. Marvin M. Clark, recording secretary; Ralph Isiminger, second vice president; Robert Hunter, Jr., treasurer. There being no nominations from the floor the committee's report was accepted and elections will be held next month.

The flower arranging school, sponsored by the club, is in its last week. There has been full attendance at the classes and several flower arrangements by class members were displayed at the meeting.

It was announced that the Junior Garden Club took its annual spring walk last Saturday. They studied flowers, trees and birds along the way as they went up Iron's Mountain. It was noted that 25 of the 28 large trees now have been planted at the Industrial Boulevard Roadside project.

As usual the June meeting will be a fun and party meeting. Plans are being formulated for an unusual program.

The speaker for the evening was Henry Yates of Frostburg. He spoke on "Azaleas and Rhodendrons." Mr. Yates has been active in the gorwing of and hybridizing of azeleas and rhododundron for a number of years. He showed slides of the many and different varieties that he has raised.

Point Trail Ride To Be Sunday

The Potomac Valley Riding Club will hold the second in a series of point trail rides on Sunday, leaving from the club house on Route No. 28 at the new time of 1 p. m. Lee Welsh, trail boss, urged all horsemen of the area to participate in this months ride.

Immediately following the ride, at 4 p. m. members and guests will visit the new area to be used for a training-riding ring atop the hillside.

Workmen are expected to start the project following some preliminary steps.

Floyd Grace, president of the local club will lead the ride over the Plum Run Trail.

The Mapleside Homemakers Club will meet today at the First Brethren Church. A workshop will be held at 10 o'clock. The regular business session will begin at 1:30. Each member is asked to bring a flower cutting for exchange.

PRESENTS CHECK—On behalf of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Miss Patricia Emerick presented a check to Robert Williams for an uderprivileged membership to the YMCA day camp. The money was raised through the style show and card party held in March by the sorority, at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

The Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, Queen City Grove 11, will meet at 8 p.m., Friday at the WOW hall, Union Street. Mrs. Alberta Lindner will conduct the business session. Routine reports will be given and a social hour, at which time refreshments will be served.

PowderPuffs Present PA System

The Powder Puffs of the Road Runners Kart Klub has purchased a public address system for the Kart Klub and will be used for the first time for the races Sunday, Mrs. Ada Mease, president, said last evening. The first race of the season will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday track on Eastman Road. It was purchased from proceeds from a rummage sale, and was the second gift of the Powder Puffs to the club.

A meeting of the Powder Puffs will be held June 5 at the home of Mrs. Margaret Dean, Potomac Park.

A spaghetti supper, sponsored by the Young Adult group of Prosperity Methodist Church, Bean's Cove Road, will be held Saturday beginning at 5:30.

Eta Chapter Announces DKG Scholarship Award

Janet Nelson Recipient

Miss Janet Nelson has been named recipient of the Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society scholarship award, Miss Esther Carter, scholarship chairman, announces. The 50 award is given to a woman student majoring in teacher education.

Miss Nelson is enrolled in secondary education at Frostburg State Teachers College, majoring in math. A junior at the college, she has been on the dean's list every semester since entering and the last semester was one of 10 students receiving all "A's".

At present she holds office as recording secretary of Omega Chapter of Sigma Zeta, a national honorary science and math fraternity; also is serving as treasurer of Phi Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority; recently was elected president of the organization for the coming year; and at present is laboratory assistant in biological sciences at the college.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Nelson, 121 Centre Street, Frostburg, Miss Nelson is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and teaches a Sunday school class of fifth and sixth grade girls there. Her father is a member of the faculty at Beall High School and her mother saleswoman for Whitacre art shop in Frostburg.

Miss Carter reports the reason Miss Nelson was chosen for the scholarship award, it is felt she is qualified because she was a straight A student in high school and at high school graduation received the Jeffries Brothers award; the Beall High Alumni award; the validictorian medal, the Chime award, the School Activity medal, the Bausch and Lomb science award, the Beall High School excellence award, and awards for outstanding music student of the year and the award known as the "best all round girl."

Miss Nelson is being invited to attend the DKG luncheon, which will be held May 26 at 1 p. m., at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Sex Of Pelicans Debated By Commons

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Britain's House of Commons discussed the sex of a pair of pelicans Tuesday. The debate was inconclusive.

The pelicans—Paul and Daphne—are inmates of St. James Park, a royal oasis in the heart of London which comes under the Ministry of Works. The question is—which, if either, is male and which is female.

Bird-lover Sir Tufton Beamish, a Conservative, raised the issue. He said he had heard that Paul and Daphne are expecting a blessed event.

With this in mind, he asked if the minister of works, Scottish Lord John Adrian Hope, could assure him that Paul is in fact a male and Daphne a female. Sir Tufton pointed out it is not easy to determine the sex of a pelican.

Replying, Lord John said: "A post-morten on a park pelican named Wilfred recently revealed that Wilfred had been appropriately named."

This was greeted by laughter from Conservatives, Laborites and Liberals alike.

Lord John explained that Wilfred had to be destroyed after he injured himself in an accident.

There was more laughter when he added that Wilfred's ex-mate Daphne, is now sharing a park rock with Paul.

"Time will show," he said, "whether Paul has got the bird."

Mystery Spots Filmed By X15 Ice Flakes

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The "mysterious objects" filmed by the X15 rocket plane on its world record altitude flight two weeks ago were actually flakes of ice, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Engineers for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), after studying films taken on the soaring flight to 46.7 miles high, concluded the "spots" were ice flakes off the aircraft's fuel tanks and caused by liquid oxygen.

X15 pilot Joe Walker piloted the ship April 30 to the highest man ever has flown in a winged aircraft.

Vacations Work Hardship Upon Many Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The modern religious exodus gets under way shortly.

With the coming of the vacation season, many families take to the road, the shore or the summer house, leaving their home places of worship to get by without them.

And sometimes, it's a struggle.

The vacant pews, the unmanned church posts, the sagging program, the thinning collections—all these often combine to produce a slump, if not a standstill, in church operations.

Some churches simply shut down during the worst part of the doldrums.

"The sad truth is that the vacation habit, plus the habit of making weekend trips throughout the summer, has worked practically to paralyze the church of God for several months of the year," says Dr. A. W. Tozer.

Dr. Tozer is a pungent, frank-speaking spokesman of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, a small but vigorous Protestant denomination of about 70,000 members in 1,100 American congregations.

As editor of the denomination's biweekly publication, the Alliance Witness, Dr. Tozer, also a Toronto, Ont., pastor, is noted for his pithy jabs at church weaknesses.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance, whose publication Dr. Tozer has guided for 12 years, stemmed from Presbyterianism in the late 1800's as an independent evangelistic movement, strictly Bible-centered.

Altogether, the movement maintains 860 missionaries in 23 areas abroad, plus more than 3,000 indigenous workers, with a current foreign missions budget of $4 million a year. There are nearly twice as many members in missionary congregations overseas—133,000—as in the home denomination.

The Alliance generally stays out of social or political issues, sticking to spiritual concerns. On this point, Dr. Tozer says:

"Christ referred sometimes to kings and soldiers and governors and wars and kingdoms; but always He did so as one who stood outside of and apart from them. His kingdom was not of this world."

On the topic of vacations, Dr. Tozer conceded that hard-working people can use a rest from the daily grind, but that modern vacationing, instead of being restful, turns the countryside "into one vast cage of waltzing mice."

"If most of the population choose to forsake their homes and spend all their time scudding between filling stations, there is nothing that we can do about it," he said, but adds there should be some concern about the "havoc this midsummer madness brings among the churches of this hectic day."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Females who reach for a bikini when temperatures soar figure scanty wrapping helps cool the body.

But they're sometimes warmer than their sisters who wear more ample costumes. It happens in direct sun when other conditions make the environment resemble a humid desert.

Research involving a copper man — alias Pvt. Feemster — has shown that the coolest cats on a beach when such conditions prevail are the ones who cover more hide than they expose.

Feemster proved the point during experiments at the Army's Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command in Natick, Mass.

Sans clothes, the copper man was hotter when placed in the sun than he was when dresssd. Nude, Feemster's heat gain was 200 calories an hour. Dressed, the heat gain steadied at around 200 calories an hour.

Dr. David Bass, a physiologist at the research center, said that clothing that offers excellent ventilation seems to protect against the heat in direct sun when conditions are similar to those in a humid desert.

Bass, in a telephone interview, noted that the ventilated clothing — such as mercerized cotton — cools itself and the body as moisture from it evaporates.

Other research at the center upsets the notion that dark clothing always is hotter than light clothing in warm weather.

Feemster, for example, was just as cool in an Oxford gray costume as he was in white when subjected to laboratory conditions reproducing the stresses of a hot but cloudy day.

On a bright, sunny day, however, the dark clothing absorbs heat and the white or light reflects it. But research has shown the difference is so small that color doesn't make a lot of difference.

Another hot weather notion holds that the beach is the coolest place under the sun. Not always. Army tests show that when a sunny beach temperature is 103 degrees, the sun on the sand may hike the ground level temperature to 145 degrees.

On a day when there is practically nothing in the way of sea breezes but plenty of sun, you'll be hotter at the beach than inland. What helps to make you hotter: Heat rising from the baking sand.

Bass also said you don't have to cuddle up to an air conditioner to survive in hot weather. Even without mechanical cooling, the normal body's thermostat adjusts body heat to the comfortable stage in from four to 10 days.

A Long Reach

CHICAGO (UPI) —A light bulb snatcher with lofty aims stole four bulbs, valued at $10 each, from a 220-foot police radio transmitting tower.

Statisticians estimate that the United States will have more than 63 million children under 18 by 1965.

Sickles' Edge In Upset Win Nearly 15,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — The upset victory margin of Carlton R. Sickles in Maryland's Democratic primary for congressman-at-large grew to nearly 15,000 votes Wednesday on the basis of unofficial, nearly complete returns.

Sickles' triumph over House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson, a fellow Prince Georges countian and veteran of 20 years in the legislature, was the only major surprise in the congressional races.

The lone Republican and five Democratic incumbents seeking renomination won easily.

Returns from 1,444 of the state's 1,447 polling places showed 138,329 votes for Sickles, 123,906 for Wilkinson.

In the unit vote, which is similar to the electoral college vote for president and determines nominees in statewide primaries, Sickles led Wilkinson, 80-72.

A labor lawyer and two-term member of the House, Sickles captured five of six Baltimore City districts and ran well in the more heavily industrialized counties. He was the only successful statewide candidate on the ticket of gubernatorial hopeful George P. Mahoney.

Wilkinson, a late addition to the slate of Gov. J. Millard Tawes, showed strongly in rural areas.

In November, Sickles will oppose Republican Newton I. Steers, who defeated Robert E. Ennis in his party's primary. Steers, a first-time political starter, is in the investment business and is married to a step-sister of Mrs. Jackqueline Kennedy.

Another race watched closely in Tuesday's primary was the Democratic contest in the 6th Congressional District, where former Rep. John R. Foley outdistanced four others. His November opponent will be Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, who unseated him two years ago and won renomination over token opposition.

Democrats renominated were Reps. Thomas F. Johnson in the 1st District; Edward A. Garmatz, 3rd; George H. Fallon, 4th; Richard E. Lankford, 5th, and Samuel N. Friedel, 7th.

Clarence D. Long, who resigned as state party chairman to make the race, defeated three others for the Democratic nomination up for grabs in the 2nd District as a result of Rep. Daniel B. Brewster's successful run for the senatorial spot on the Tawes ticket.

J. Fife Symington Jr. won the Republican nomination in the 2nd District for the third straight time.

Other Republican nominees are Rogers C. B. Morton, brother of Kentucky Senator Thruston B. Morton, who was unopposed in the 1st District; John E. Brandau, unopposed in the 4th; Joseph H. Baker Jr., who defeated Clifton L. Clevenger in the 5th, and Mrs. Caroline R. Ramsay, who beat David A. Halley in the 7th.

With no Republican running in the 3rd District primary, that spot will be filled by the State Central Committee before the general election.

U.S. Troops To Fire Back If Attacked

BALTIMORE (AP) — Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. said Wednesday U.S. troops patroling the Laotion border would fire back if fired upon.

But he would not comment on whether Marines and jet fighters in Thailand would cross the Mekong River into Laos.

"I'm not going to tip our hand about what might occur in Laos or Vietnam," he said. "Our troops will be mobile, will patrol the border, and will fire back if fired upon."

Stahr was in Baltimore to address the annual Reservists' Award Luncheon in the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to mark Armed Forces Week.

Turnover Of More Than Third Of Md. Legislative Seats Assured

BALTIMORE (AP) — With or without reapportionment, there will be a lot of new faces in the Maryland Legislature next year.

Of the 152 present members, 41 had decided not to seek renomination. Twenty-five others fell victims to factional fighting in the Democratic primary Tuesday, assuring a turnover of more than a third of the legislative seats.

Others may fall in November.

At least 10 new faces are assured in the 29-member Senate, even if the courts don't decide more seats should be added for the benefit of larger counties.

Among the missing will be Senate President George W. Della, D-Balto 6th, J. Alvin Jones, D-Balto 4th, and J. Raymond Buffington, D-Balto 3rd. They were knocked off in primary battles, two by present members of the House of Delegates and the other by a former delegate.

Seven left voluntarily, Sens. Guy Johnson, D-Cecil, and Charles M. See, R-Allegany, were successful in primary bids to return to the house, where they formerly served. Sens. Bernard I. Gonder, D-Garrett, Frank M. Shipley, D-Howard, and Walter Dorsey, D-St. Marys, retired. Sen. Samuel Barrick, D-Frederick, ran unsuccessfully for attorney general on the Mahoney ticket.

Only 71 incumbents remain in the running for the 123-member house and all but 13 of these have opposition in the general election.

Among 22 house members who went down to defeat were eight bidding to become senatorial candidates: John M. Whitmore, D-Anne Arundel; William F. Burkley and Richard D. Mackie, Cecil Democrats; Elbert E. Buckel, D-Garrett; Alger Y. Barbee, D-Montgomery; Lansdale G. Sasscer Jr., D-Prince Georges; Frank A. Combs, D-St. Marys; and Henry H. Hanna, D-Wicomico.

Dels. William Walsh, D-Allegany, Joseph H. Hahn Jr., R-Carroll, Charles H. Smelser, D-Frederick, were unopposed for senate nomination but face contests in Novmeber. Del James Clark won a three-way race for Democratic nomination to Shipley's seat in Howard and Dels. J. Joseph Curran and Verda Welcome were successful in Democratic senatorial primaries in Baltimore city's 3rd and 4th Districts.

Della, who had represented Baltimore's 6th district since 1939, lost to William L. Hodges, a former member of the House of Delegates who resigned to run for the Baltimore city council where he has been serving.

Other notable legislative races involved a triumph for Sen. Louis N. Phipps, D-Anne Arundel, over a reform ticket headed by Whitmore; Sen. H. Winship Wheatley's victory over young Sasscer as insurgent Democrats in Prince Georges shellacked the Democratic organization headed by Lansdale G. Sasscer Sr.; and Sen. Frederick C. Malkus' victory over factional forces in Dorchester.

By winning his primary, Malkus assured himself of re-election in November unless the Republican State Central Committee names a candidate to oppose him.

Mass Media AAUW Unit Meets May 24

FROSTBURG — The Mass Media Study Group of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the AAUW will meet May 24 instead of May 17 as originally scheduled. Mrs. Lowell Sowers, Jr., will be hostess.

Mrs. Harold J. Cordts is chairman of the program dealing with new notable books on art and psychology, architecture, sculpturing and photography.

Opera house in Manaus, port city of Brazil, was built in 1896 and cost $10,000,000.

THE PEOPLE ARE AGAINST THE KENNEDY PROGRAM — If the rest of the American people are like Marylanders, and I believe they are, then grass-roots America is unaltorably opposed to most of the Kennedy Administration program. This is what the returns from our questionaire show us.

The people are dead set against welfare-stateism. They say in a loud voice (88 per cent to five per cent), "Cut out the spending programs!" The people reject the President's "medicare" plan (72 per cent to 15 per cent); they apparently have come to realize that it would not do what is claimed for it, that it is, therefore, a cruel hoax on the older people, and that furthermore, it's unsound. The people voted 18 per cent for and 70 per cent against so-called "Federal Aid to Education"; again, the people refuse to be fooled by propaganda; they realize they cannot get something-for-nothing, that, in the end, they would have to pay double for whatever "aid" their schools would get from Washington. And the people show just what they think of the farm-control program by voting one per cent for and 83 per cent against President Kennedy's plan to put more commodities under Federal control.

The people are overwhelmingly against regimentation — the concept which seems to be at the bottom of every Kennedy Administration proposal. Grass-roots America has awakened to the danger of dictatorship. Every Administration proposal to Congress would build up the President's powers, and the people sense the significance of this.

The people are deeply concerned about the advance of World Communism. They are against recognition of the Red regime in China (81 per cent to seven per cent). They would quit giving financial aid to the so-called "neutral" countries (81 per cent to nine per cent). The vote was one per cent for and 76 per cent against sharing our DEW signal system with the Russians, as has been recommended in "The Liberal Papers", and it was two per cent for and 91 per cent against our disarming "regardless of what Russia does."

The people are for a strong defense position and are dead set against Communist encroachment. The people would go to war right now to free Cuba from Communism (67 per cent to 17 per cent), and would go to war rather than back up one inch in West Berlin (71 per cent to 14 per cent). They recognize the necessity of atmospheric testing of our nuclear warheads (78 per cent to nine per cent).

The people have not been lulled by those who discount the danger of Communism "within". They'd like to know what the "former" Communists here are up to (85 per cent to four cent), and they're against "muzzling" our military officers (87 per cent to four per cent).

One Administration program that received approval by the people was President Kennedy's request for power to reduce tariffs to deal with the Common Market (69 per cent to 16 per cent). In the miscellaneous category, the people favor some kind of automatic adjustment of retirement payments to meet the problem of constantly increasing cost of living.

From the returns, we see that the people are deeply concerned with national problems—and are beginning to "read the fine print" and examine things closely.

RADAR UNIT TO BRING TWO SATELLITES TOGETHER — Radar equipment that will help guide a spacecraft into proximity of another orbiting satellite is to be developed by Westinghouse of Baltimore for the Space Administration. The intricate radar unit is to be spaceborne, used aboard the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

THE SACRED RIGHT TO VOTE—This past week, I introduced in the Senate a concurrent resolution setting forth as the sense of the Congress that States should pass the necessary laws to permit persons living on Federally-owned lands the right to vote in Federal elections. I found that thousands of good Americans have been barred by States laws from taking part in elections, including even those for President and other Federal officials, solely because they reside on Federally-owned lands. This includes the physicians, nurses, psychologists, social workers and management specialists, as well as the adult members of their families, who reside on Federally-owned land adjacent to Veterans Administration hospitals. All these people and many others similarly situated throughout the nation have been denied the right to vote. I recognize, of course, the Constitutional right of sovereign States to make their own election laws, but I believe a resolution such as mine would be right and proper in that it would tend to encourage States to remove the existing injustice.

BALTIMORE HARBOR AND CANAL PROJECTS—On Wednesday I appeared before a subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee to ask that it approve the President's request for $4,100,000 to continue the work of widening and deepening the Baltimore Harbor channels, to make it possible to handle the larger modern cargo ships. I also asked that the President's request for funds for the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal project be doubled. The President had requested only $5,000,000 for the coming year's work of removing hazards to ships on the Canal, while Baltimore Port interests, the Army Corps of Engineers and other experts say that $10,000,000 is the amount needed for an efficient job.

"THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGG' — Business today is shaken, apprehensive, and deeply concerned about the future. President Kennedy's victory over the steel industry has complicated the economic picture because it has left all business uneasy about new investment and uncertain as to where the money can come from. It will be a hollow victory indeed for the Administration until it finds a way of stimulating economic growth. If the Administration is not to kill "the goose that lays the golden egg" then it must give business the means and the will to make ever heavier investments in new and more efficient equipment.

There is one approach that could restore profit margins to a level that would encourage new investment: tax revision. The punitive and repressive tax system that now burdens the U.S. economy is a deadly drag on expansion and a constant threat to economic stability. President Kennedy's continued attempt to press his own version of a tax incentive for investment as a substitute for a comprehensive program of tax reform is one of the things that has undermined business confidence. The most constructive approach to further the hopes for growth and economic stability would be to abandon the Administration's gimmick - ridden tax bill and put through a genuine top-to-bottom reform.

OH THOSE HIKERS! — Hiker Extraordinary William O. Douglas, U. S. Supreme Court Justice made his annual Chesapeake and Ohio Canal hike last week, and so did about 100 others. This has become an established annual affair. Every year for the past 8 years, the mountain-climbing Justice has hiked along some segment of the 185-mile canal between Cumberland, Maryland, and Washington, D. C. Justice Douglas agrees with the position of those of us who have taken legislative steps to establish the C. & O. Canal as a national park to preserve the wildlife and unspoiled beauty of the historic canal — and the Justice has emphasized his interest by making the annual hikes, now joined in by numerous individuals who like to walk. On one occasion, to prove the desirability of retaining the rustic beauty of the canal, Justice Douglas challenged newsmen in Washington to walk with him to Cumberland. Picnics and even banquets at some points along the route have become standard adjuncts of the unique annual observance.

UNBIASED, OF COURSE! — Senators and Congressmen, who, because of the pressure of legislative duties and the limit of time, require help in preparing their news-letters, are now told they can relax and hand the matter over to the State Department. From that omnipotent Department has come the handy new offer to supply prewritten statements on foreign affairs and foreign policy for use in newsletters. Naturally, says the State Department, these prepackaged releases would be unbiased, not to mention non-partisan.

You bet!

"My Country, 'Tis of Thee" was written in 1831 by the Rev. Charles Francis Smith.

Danish Dessert Finds New Uses In Baked Desserts

Danish Dessert, a tangy fruit pudding with appeal to those with gourmet tastes, is patterned after Rodgrod, the national dessert of Denmark. Literally translated Rodgrod means "red pudding", although the word "grod" more specifically indicates a pudding of soft consistency.

One little Danish cookbook has a recipe for this "Rodgrod med Flode" (Red pudding with cream) and has the following notation: "The foreigner who visits Denmark remembers this dessert mainly because its Danish name is almost impossible to pronounce. His Danish friends are always greatly amused by his efforts to say it right."

Rodgrod is a popular dish in the other Scandinavian countries and Germany. In Norway it is known as "Rod Grot". In Sweden it is called "Saftkram" and in Germany the same dessert is named "Rote Gruetze".

The origin of this berry dessert is open to dispute. For example, Troels Lund, a well-known Danish historian whose specialty is early Danish history, mentions Rodgrod made with wine in many of his writings and some believe that the original dessert was probably a wine pudding long before berry juices were used. Other historians, however, insist that Rodgron dates back only to around 1611 when it first appeared in Danish cookbooks. The recipes all contain berry mashes which are made into a pudding type of dessert which can be served either hot or cold.

Clever cooks also serve it as a colorful parfait, hot or cold fruit sauce, glamorous fruit soup, molded pie filling, tart filling or ham glaze.

Now Danish Dessert is finding exciting new uses in a variety of baked dishes. The warm fragrant odor of light airy cream puffs, glamorous baked meringues and individual cherry-plum cobblers will ensure your reputation as a fine cook. And the odor of fresh baking in your kitchen during these wintery months conveys such a wonderful warm homey feeling.

The tested recipes below all have Danish Dessert as their flavorful main ingredient. All are simple to prepare because they use today's modern mixes.

Cherry-Plum Danish Dessert Cobbler

(Serves 8 people)

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 package Cherry-Plum Danish Dessert
- 2 cups liquid (juice drained from fruit and water)
- 1 package frozen cherries (thawed and darined)
- 1 package Orange Muffin Mix
- 1 egg
- ½ cup water

METHOD:

Thaw and drain cherries. Add water to cherry juice to make 2 cups liquid. Make Danish Dessert according to package directions. Add cherries. Pour in a 7½" x 12½" x 2" baking dish or into individual baking casseroles.

Make Muffin Mix according to package directions and place on top of the Danish Dessert.

Bake in a 400° F. oven for 15-20 minutes or until the crust is done. Serve with whipped cream or light cream. NOTE: Delicious served hot OR cold.

Danish Dessert Filled Cream Puffs

CREAM PUFF SHELLS:

Make about 12 shells from your own favorite recipe, or use a mix.

FILLING:

- 2 packages Strawberry Danish Dessert
- 4 cups water
- 1 pint heavy cream, whipped

METHOD FOR FILLING:

Stir contents of package of Danish Dessert into cold water. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil for one minute. Chill 3-4 hours. Fill puff shells by cutting off top of each shell horizontally (⅓ way down). Put 3 to 4 tablespoons of filling into hole in puff and cover with whipped cream. Replace cut-off top of shell. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar. Chill until ready to serve.

Date Loaf

A delicious date loaf made with brown sugar and with chopped walnuts in addition to the dates, is good to have on hand for snacks after school, to help fill lunch boxes, to offer callers who may drop in, and even as dessert to top off the family meal.

Here's a recipe for date loaf which includes lard as the shortening. Lard not only adds to the food value of the loaf, but it helps in keeping it fresh and moist to the last crumb. Also, lard is easy to use, even when just taken from the refrigerator.

Date Loaf

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup lard
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 pound pitted dates, chopped
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Line the bottom of a 5 by 9-inch loaf pan with waxed paper. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream lard with sugar until light and fluffy. Add the beaten eggs. Dissolve baking soda in milk and add with vanilla to creamed mixture. Add chopped dates and nuts to flour mixture. Stir flour mixture into creaming mixture and mix well. Pour into loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350d F.) for 50 to 60 minutes. Serve with a butter cream frosting or whipped cream, if desired.

Perfect Coffee Revives Triumphant Shopper

This is any woman's shining hour. Her shopping spree has ended successfully with a smart bonnet for her wardrobe, and believe it or not, it's still just a little past two o'clock. That means there's time to sip a leisurely cup of coffee before the afternoon session lets out.

For the tired, happy wanderer, the coffee ought to be nothing short of a perfect pick-me-up. It ought to be, that is, if it's been brewed properly. Coffee that tastes exactly right is easy to come by, but it does require following a few simple rules. If you stick to them, you'll always get the best results from your coffeepot.

Rules for a Perfect Pot of Coffee

To begin with, your coffee-maker should be spotless. A swish under the hot water tap just won't do. The pot should be washed in soapy water and rinsed thoroughly after each use to get rid of the oily film left after brewing. Then, when you're ready to brew a fresh pot, make sure your coffee and water are both fresh. Vacuum-packed coffee will stay fresh for about a week after the can is opened. Coffee in the bean, unground, stays fresh for about ten to fourteen days. Finally, the water should come from the cold water tap just before you brew the coffee.

Now, for all-important measurements. For each serving, use:

- 1 Approved Coffee Measure (or 2 level measuring tablespoons) of coffee
- ¾ of a measuring cup (6 ounces) of water

Percolator—percolate over low heat from 6 to 8 minutes, no longer.
Vacuum — hold brewing coffee in upper bowl no longer than 3 minutes.
Drip — pour in boiling water; it should go through coffee in 4 to 6 minutes. Stir before serving.

A few additional tips on brewing good coffee will be helpful. (1) Use at least three-quarters of the capacity of your coffee-maker. For fewer cups, use a smaller maker. (2) Brewing too long makes coffee bitter. (3) Always use the proper grind of coffee for your coffee-maker. (4) Never allow coffee to boil after brewing. (5) Freshly brewed coffee tastes best, so serve it as soon as possible after brewing.

Different Uses For Honey

As is, honey makes a fine spread for bread, toast, pancakes, waffles, or other hot breads. But it can be given a "new look," as well. Mix with butter or margarine for a pleasing change. And for further variation, add peanut butter, or whipped cream. The variations may be used both as sauces and tasty toppings for ice cream, gelatin, or hot desserts.

For long lasting moist freshness in cakes and pastries, you'll get superb results with honey as the sweetener. Some honey baked products are even improved in flavor and texture when aged a few days. Should your recipe call for sugar, you may use honey to replace as much as half the amount without changing the proportions of the other ingredients listed. Be sure to mix the honey thoroughly with the other ingredients to prevent a soggy layer from forming on top. Combine the honey with either the shortening or the liquid.

Honey goes well, too, in puddings, custards, pie fillings, and cookies. Use it also for baked apples, candied and "sweet-sour" vegetable preparations, salad dressings, glazed hams, eggnogs, and in fruit drinks of all kinds.

Looking for a tempting and attractive dessert? Try these Honey-Pecan Tarts, combining two plentifuls. They're sure to please. The recipe is recommended by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists.

Pastry

- 1½ cups sifted all purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup vegetable shortening or lard
- 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in fat until the mixture is granular. Sprinkle water over mixture, blending lightly with a fork. Add water sparingly until dough clings together but is not wet. Let stand 5 minutes before rolling. Roll out the dough on lightly floured board. Cut into six circles (6-inch diameter). Press pastry into muffin pans; double the edge of pastry over and pinch with fingers to make an upright rim.

Filling

- 2 eggs
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup liquid honey
- ⅓ cup light corn sirup
- ⅔ teaspoon vanilla
- ⅔ cup coarsely chopped pecans

Beat eggs and blend in the other ingredients. Pour ¼ cup of the mixture into each unbaked tart shell. Bake at 400°F. (hot oven) for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 6 tarts.

Food Shopping Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) A variety of appealing food buys await weekend food shoppers.

Supplies in great supply:

Meat counters will feature an across the board selection of beef. In pork, canned hams will be spotlighted. The top poultry buys will be broiler-fryers and turkeys.

Dairy products will be widely featured.

The best buys at vegetable counters will be beets, broccoli rabe, squash, rutabagas, spinach, Maine potatoes, and asparagus.

Grapefruits, oranges, and limes will be the top fruit buys.

And at fish counters, the plentifuls include fillets, shad, clams, and halibut.

Although it was irritating to the skin, linsey-woolsey was a favorite material in Colonial America. This combination of linen and wool was strong and warm.

Old Salem, N. C., used a form of modern plumbing in pre-Revolutionary days. Water was piped through hollow logs to every house in town.

Anglo-Saxons occupied Nottingham, of Robin Hood fame, in the 6th Century. By 1086 the town had 120 inhabitants.

Apple Cobbler Breakfast

Bright ideas for breakfast are bustin'out all over . . . all part of the great surge to elevate breakfast once again into a meal that builds vitality for the morning's activities. So here is the recipe for a Breakfast Apple Cobbler that does just that . . . and it's grand eating, too.

When your lie-a-beds scent the warm apple promise of this cobbler on the morning air, they'll come on the run to see what's cooking. And remain to enjoy hearty servings. Tangy canned apple sauce it is, crowded with tender strips of cooked ham, with a spark of lemon added for extra zing. Baked atop are fluffy biscuits filled with cheese and parsley and spiced with cardamom.

And, as a breakfast dish should be, this cobbler is easy to put together. The ham . . . slivers from your latest baked ham; the apple sauce . . . just open can or jar; the biscuit batter . . . a mix. The entire dish can be prepared, popped into the oven and baking in next to no time.

While this Cobbler is designed for breakfast, it can also be a fine and savory choice for supper. But do try it first for a Sunday breakfast . . . and see the members of the family rocket off fairly bursting with cheer and ginger.

Breakfast Cobbler

- 1½ cups cooked ham, cut in strips 2 inches long, ¼ inch wide
- 3 cups canned apple sauce
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1½ cups biscuit mix
- ½ cup grated cheddar cheese
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- ⅛ teaspoon ground cardamom
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Place ham strips in a greased 8" x 8" baking dish. Combine apple sauce, ¼ cup sugar and lemon juice. Pour over ham strips. Put biscuit mix into a medium-sized bowl. Stir in cheese, parsley and cardamom. Add milk, stirring with a fork to a soft dough. Drop dough by small spoonfuls on apple sauce. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon sugar. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Special Way To Prepare Pork Steaks

Pork is a favorite meat in most households, and pork roasts, chops and steaks appear regularly on the family menu. However, sometimes the homemaker looks for new ways to prepare these familiar pork cuts, to give them a special appeal.

Pork is tender meat, rich in flavor. It is best when cooked well done, to bring out this goodness. Pork loin is an excellent roast, but cuts such as rib and loin chops and shoulder steaks are usually cooked by braising, that is, in moist heat.

Pork steaks are cut from the shoulder. Blade steaks are cut from the larger end of the Boston butt, and include the flat blade bone. Arm steaks, cut from the arm section of the shoulder, are identified by the small round arm bone.

Pork Steaks Italiano, prepared with slices of cheese, are a very special treat.

Pork Steaks Italiano

- 4 pork blade steaks, cut ¾ inch thick
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon Italian seasoning
- ¼ teaspoon basil
- ¼ cup water
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 4 green pepper rings, cut ¼ inch thick
- 4 slices Mozzarella cheese

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, Italian seasoning, basil, water and tomato sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 30 minutes. Add green pepper rings and Mozzarella cheese. Cover tightly and simmer for 30 minutes or until done. 4 servings.

WIFE PRESERVERS

To remove a glue or mucilage stain, try a little white vinegar, preceded and followed by a sponging of plain water. Casein glue is best removed with a cold-water soak.

Remove tomato juice stains by sponging with cold water, then working glycerine or lard into stain and letting it set half an hour. Then launder in warm water.

To clean porcelain effectively and easily, just sprinkle salt on a flannel cloth and rub.

To convert thin suds to a heavy lather, try squishing a sponge several times in them.

Strainers and graters can often be cleaned most thoroughly and easily letting them dry thoroughly, then brushing with dry, stiff brush.

Dry hair can be lubricated with warm oil massaged into scalp before shampooing. Use extra latherings and rinsing to remove every trace of the oil.

Zippy Meat Accompaniment

A tart sauce can make left-over meat tastier by the minute. Combine 2 cups applesauce, 2 tablespoons horseradish and 1 tablespoon lemon juice and serve it with ready-to-serve as well as well as leftovers.

Kinks and knots in electric cords may damage the insulation and break the fine wires inside.

RoundSteak, Italian Style, Is Different

Round steak is a favorite dish in many households. Cooked in moist heat, sometimes after it has been pounded to make it more tender, it is often referred to as Swiss Steak.

A tasty variation in preparing braised round steak, using flavors popular with Italian cooks —tomato, oregano and garlic — is worth adding to your favorite recipes.

Round steak is practically boneless and possesses fine flavor although it is less tender than steaks from the loin section of beef. Cooking in moist heat it recommended to make it more tender and bring out its good flavor.

In this recipe canned tomatoes supply the liquid for cooking and with oregano, dry mustard and minced garlic give it additional flavor.

Round Steak Italienne

- 1 beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- ¼ cup flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon chapped parsley, if desired

Cut steak into 5 to 6 servings. Pound to ¼ inch thickness. Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, oregano, mustard and garlic. Cover tightly and simmer 1 hour or until done. Serve on a hot platter. Sprinkle parsley over the top. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

Why is the American economy, with its high employment, wages and gross national product, so sluggish? With evident prosperity on all sides, business should be as spry as a spring colt but it seems to be acting more like the Old Gray Mare. The following figures suggest the answer.

For 1962, a probable Federal deficit of at least $7.5 billion.

For 1963, a probable Federal deficit of at least $2.5 billion.

A continuing gold loss so serious that foreigners hold claims of $20.4 billion against only $4.8 billion that is uncommitted in this country.

A New Frontier proposal to raise the national debt ceiling to $308 billion.

Unfortunately the Administration response to the preceding ominous signs is to increase greatly Federal spending, hire more Federal employees and establish vast Federal public works projects. This program, it is argued, will stimulate employment and provide increased purchasing power leading to mass "spending." In turn, this will result in more wages and more profits from which will flow more tax revenues to pay for the increased Federal spending.

The theory sounds logical, and it might work in a regimented society where a central government dictates wages, profits, prices, volume of production, marketing, quotas, exports and imports. But it won't work in a free society resting on a capitalistic economy system engaged in competition for world markets with other nations. This theory did not turn depression into prosperity during the 1930's and it isn't the answer to our problems in the 1960's.

I submit that the best way to stimulate our sluggish economy is not through massive injections of Federal money but through reduced Federal spending, a balanced budget to insure sound money and a reduction in tax rates which will accelerate capital formation.

Furthermore, any suggestion of income tax relief at this particular time would be unwise. It makes little sense to approve an income tax reduction when the Congress knows that it would then be obliged to borrow that much extra money to finance the numerous Federal programs. Rather, we should take a long hard look at our incredibly expensive Government and reduce its expenditures wherever possible, and it is profoundly possible.

Quite simply, what I am recommending is that the Federal Government follow a few basic rules of business: live within your income, adhere to a balanced budget and stop spending today money which you might receive tomorrow. The result of such a policy would be fewer Federal expenditures, a smaller debt, a less inflated Federal bureaucracy and a favorable climate in which our competitive enterprise system could operate for the benefit of every citizen.

Seek Variety In Ways To Serve Liver

Because of its unusually high nutritional value, liver should appear often on the schedule of family meals, health experts tell us. It is a good idea to serve it at least once a week, especially when the family includes growing youngsters.

Liver is an outstanding source of iron which helps form hemoglobin, the red substance of the blood. Liver is also rich in vitamin A, needed for growth and repair of body tissues. It is an excellent source of riboflavin and of niacin, also needed for good health.

There is no question therefore of the great value of liver in the diet. It is fortunate that there are so many tasty combinations in which liver may be served with no danger of monotony.

Several vegetables blend well with liver. Onions are famous "good companions" for liver. So too are tomatoes.

Liver-Tomato Harmony

1½ pounds sliced liver
3 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard
2 medium onions, sliced
1 can (16 ounces) whole tomatoes

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge liver in seasoned flour. Brown on both sides in lard. Add onions and tomatoes. Cover and cook slowly for 30 to 45 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Cheese And Onion Gems

Want something to make a meal something special? Cheese-onion gems will do the trick.

Hot gems or muffins give a meal special appeal and are actually not difficult to provide.

Cheese-onion gems are nutritious fare for they contain one-third cup of lard, an egg, a half cup of milk and two-thirds cup of grated cheddar cheese. All these ingredients have excellent food value.

A sprinkling of sesame seed and grated cheese over the tops of the gems, which are brushed with melted butter, gives them a touch of elegance and enhances their flavor, too.

Cheese-Onion Gems

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup lard
- ⅔ cup finely grated cheddar cheese
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon lard
- ½ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons sesame seed, toasted
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Grease 12 medium-size muffin pans. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in ⅓ cup lard until mixture has a fine even crumb. Stir in ⅓ cup cheese. Cook onion in 1 tablespoon lard until tender but not brown. Add to flour and cheese mixture and mix lightly with fork. Combine milk and beaten egg. Add to flour mixture and stir until just moistened. (Batter will be stiff.) Fill muffin pans ⅔ full. Sprinkle tops of muffins with remaining cheese and sesame seed and spoon ½ teaspoon melted butter or margarine over each. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins.

Burnt Sugar Special

Whether you're 8, 18, or 80 you'll agree that this luscious ice cream dessert really takes the cake! And the cake is that wonderful old-fashioned burnt sugar flavor, one of the ten newly improved deluxe layer cake mixes on your grocer's shelf. A special ingredient has been added, a flavor-building ingredient not found in any cookbook recipe, which enhances the moistness and flavor-appeal of the baked cakes. Only 2-minutes of beating at one-speed make an extra creamy-rich batter ready for the oven. You'll want to try this Sundae special, so perfect for family desserts, sensational for easy entertaining.

Burnt Sugar Sundae Ring

- 1 package deluxe burnt sugar cake mix
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- Burnt sugar sauce
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Make cake according to directions on package, reserving half the burnt sugar liquid for the sauce. Turn batter into a greased and floured 3-quart ring mold and bake in a preheated 350° oven for 40 to 45 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes, then turn out on rack to cool thoroughly. When ready to serve, fill center with scoops of ice cream, top with warm burnt sugar sauce and sprinkle with walnuts. Serves 12.

Burnt Sugar Sauce

- ¼ cup burnt sugar liquid
- 2 cups brown sugar
- ⅔ cup undiluted evaporated milk
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup light corn syrup

Combine all ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sugar is melted. Bring to a boil and simmer for 3 minutes.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

Once again we are celebrating Armed Forces Day. This day is set aside so that all of the people of the United States can consider and reflect upon the great job which is and has been done by the Armed Forces of the United States and the fact that perhaps we wouldn't be a Nation or a people today if it weren't for the existence of our soldiers and sailors and marines and airmen who are providing a constant defense for this Country. Perhaps if we had not been able to maintain our Armed Forces during the past decade, you would not be having a Congressman who could be reporting to you from Washington.

I am glad today to pay my tribute to the Armed Forces for the job that they are doing all over the world, and I want to pay special tribute to those members of the Armed Forces who were called up from Reserve Status during the past year, and were asked to leave their civilian jobs and their families and homes to put on their uniforms and to take their places beside the regulars of the Armed Services to bolster the defense of America and of the Free World.

This was a sacrifice and I think that the American people should recognize it, and when more appropriately than on Armed Forces Day? We all recall that when President Kennedy was inaugurated he said that the American people would have to make some sacrifice, and I have thought from time to time during the past year when I have heard of Reservists who were complaining about their lot that we should remind all of the American people of the sacrifices that these men have made, and we should remind the men themselves that they have been fortunate in being able to make this sacrifice for the Country.

These men have served well, and they have served faithfully as far as the majority of them are concerned. I am glad to be able to announce to you that most of them will be home during the month of August. I have been advised by the Department of Defense that the Maryland units are scheduled for demobilization between the first and the eleventh of August.

For instance, in Maryland the 354th General Hospital Group from Rockville will depart for home on August 1. The 313th Transportation Battalion of Baltimore will depart on August 1, as will the 729th Adjutant General Postal Unit of Cumberland, the 375th Quartermaster Company, Supply Depot in Baltimore and the 92nd Field Hospital in Baltimore. Beginning on August 5 the following Reserve Units will be mustered out: The 558th Signal Company Construction of Frederick, the 464th Transportation Company of Annapolis, and the 430th Transportation Company Terminal Service of Baltimore, and finally on August 7th, the 800th Military Police Company of Rockville, Maryland will be mustered out.

I say to all the members of these Reserve Units, "Thank you and well done." I say to you that on Armed Forces Day, 1962 we recognize the sacrifices that you have made for your Country and we recognize the contributions made by your brothers in arms who will continue in the service of the United States of America. I say to you that you have been responsible in a large measure for our freedom and you deserve the recognition of your fellow citizens and of the Free World.

TV Education Feature Of PTA Program Today

Two officials of the Washington County school system will speak at a meeting of the Mt. Royal School PTA today at 8 p.m. at the school.

They are William M. Brish, superintendent of schools, and Robert Lesher, coordinator for the closed-circuit TV educational system in the Washington County schools.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools, will introduce the two visitors.

An explanation of the TV system being used in the Washington County schools will be outlined by the two men. All PTA members as well as the general public may attend the meeting.

Webster said that he has visited the TV building in Hagerstown where there are six studios fully equipped to send out classes to elementary and high schools on various subjects.

The TV system is used to teach math, art, music, English, history and other subjects.

Recently Webster took part in one program, which was prerecorded on video tape for use in the history classes. A flag which draped the coffin of Lincoln during the journey from New York City to Springfield, Ill., has been in possession of the Allegany County Board of Education since 1955. It was given to the school board by Zebulon M. Hewitt.

Webster took the flag to Hagerstown and with the assistance of the history teacher gave a resume of the flag and its history.

It was also announced today by Webster that the flag will be sent to the State House at Annapolis to be used in a Civil War ceremonial June 30 to July 4. Admiral Harry W. Hill, chairman of the committee arranging the program, learned of the flag and wrote Webster to request its use.

CHARLES M. MATHIAS

JOHN R. FOLEY

Mathias, Foley Election Foes

It will be incumbent Congressman Charles Mc.Mathias vs former Congressman John R. Foley for the Sixth District Congress post in the November general election.

Mathias, a Republican, who defeated Foley, a Democrat seeking re-election two years ago, far outdistanced his lone opponent in in the race and Foley did the same thing putting down the bid of four others in the Democratic primary. Both carried all five counties in the district.

In the Democratic primary, Foley's nearest competitor was William P. Allen, a fellow Montgomery countian. However, Foley more than doubled his vote margin over Allen and rolled up a total almost as great as his four opponents combined.

Mathias scored an easy Republican victory, practically shutting out William J. Amelse in Mathias' home county of Frederick where Amelse got only 129 votes compared to 3,047 for the incumbent.

In Allegany County, Foley received 2,781 votes to 688 for Allen; while Mathias garnered 4,644 to 502 for Amelse.

	REPUBLICAN		DEMOCRAT
County	Amelse	Mathias	Allen	Douglas	Dorle	Foley	Silverman
Allegany	502	4,644	688	348	295	2,781	147
Garrett	202	2,316	86	109	107	949	39
Frederick	129	3,047	1,283	630	413	3,422	272
Washington	315	4,131	1,496	502	445	4,963	182
Montgomery	1,150	14,255	7,181	2,374	4,689	14,501	2,131

Ground Breaking Ceremony Planned

Ground breaking ceremonies will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. by Zion Methodist Church for their new sanctuary.

Rev. E. K. Sawyers, pastor, said Dr. Paul Warner, superintendent of the Hagerstown District, will be the speaker.

PTA Will Hold Spring Festival

The Pennsylvania Avenue School PTA will hold a spring festival May 22 at 7:30 p. m.

A program of dances will be presented by the pupils with the teachers conducting the event. There will be novelties and refreshments.

Those Old Things

PRESTON, Conn. (UPI) — A 32-year-old automobile, with a 21-year-old driver at the wheel, ran off the road Tuesday and a state trooper asked the driver if the car were damaged.

Boyd Walsh, 21, of Gales Ferry, replied there were dents "on those things on the side. I don't know what you call them."

The older trooper informed him that "those things" were called running boards.

The Moon Trip And The Odds

Four or five years from now scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are hopeful of sending a man to the moon, landing him on it and bringing him back. A year before man sets foot on lunar soil, other astronauts will encircle the moon in an exploratory orbit.

Sounds simple, doesn't it, after the experience of earth's orbital flights? Well, there are a number of researchers working on various phases of these twin projects who are not convinced these trips will be made by their current launch dates, or at all during the current decade.

These are the laboratory workers assigned such tasks as determining the re-entry temperature of a rocket ship returning from the moon and designing suitable insulation for the craft. And the astronomers and other spaceship navigators trying to plot a course which must be accurate within one-hundredth of a degree, when these same scientists concede they may be off as much as 50 miles in calculating the moon's position.

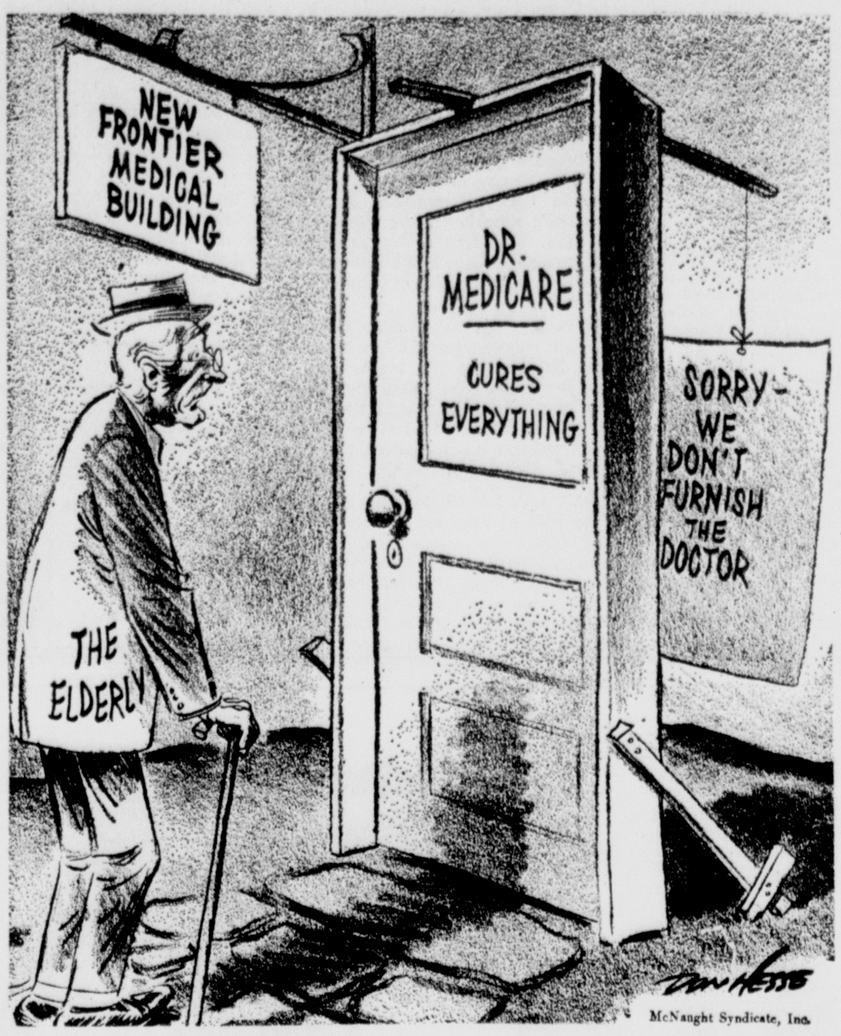
And the technicians trying to devise some means of protection for the astronaut from high density radiation bombardments caused by unanticipated solar flares. Even the fuel technicians have no definite knowledge of the effects of prolonged weightlessness on the rocket ship's fuel cargoes.

Col. Glenn's orbital earth flight proved estimates of the re-entry temperature to be off as much as 50 per cent, and a returning moon ship could generate as much as 20,000 degrees Fahrenheit upon re-entry, or about double that of Glenn's capsule.

Even navigational guidance will not be limited to safely landing someplace on the planet. It will be necessary to place the ship within 100 miles of supplies which will be sent prior to the manned flight. These supplies will be indispensable to the astronaut's existence and return.

If the man in the moon doesn't seem to be smiling as broadly as he once did, perhaps it is because of realization that his long-awaited visitors may be delayed a bit longer.

Cruel Joke



Earl Warren Jr. Tells Voters How Nixon Double-Crossed His Father

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — Drama is being enacted almost every night in California as a young Sacramento lawyer, named Earl Warren Jr., once a Republican, gets up before Democratic audiences to attack the leading Republican candidate for governor, Richard M. Nixon.

The young man is the son of the Chief Justice of the United States, long-time Republican Governor of California who once ran for Vice President on the Republican ticket in that memorable year, 1948, when Tom Dewey almost became president.

Four years later, Chief Justice Warren was the pledged presidential candidate of the State of California. Every California delegate who went to the Chicago 1952 Convention signed a firm, official promise before he left that he would vote for Earl Warren until released by Warren.

Many California delegates, plus many political observers, believed that in the bitter contest between Eisenhower and Taft, the convention might turn to Warren for President. But on the California Special en route to Chicago a young delegate named Richard Nixon began sitting in the lounge car talking to other delegates about the idea of ignoring their pledge to Warren and bolting to Eisenhower.

Many brushed the young Senator aside. But some bought the idea. So that, by the time the California delegation arrived in Chicago, part of Warren's pledged delegates had started melting away.

The young delegate from California continued undercover sniping, helping swing Southern States pledged to Taft away from Taft. His reward for double-crossing his own candidate was the No. 2 spot on the Eisenhower ticket. General Eisenhower didn't know him, but took the word of Tom Dewey that this was a promising young man who would be an asset.

Warrens Silent Long Time

I sat with Governor Warren in his suite in the Blackstone at Chicago as the crucial word came that Nixon had succeeded in undermining his own pledged candidate. Warren said nothing.

But today in California, another Earl Warren is telling California voters the story of how Nixon double-crossed his father.

The Warren family has waited a long time. Eight long years went by when Nixon was Vice President, and, during Eisenhower's heart attack, within reach of being President. Even during the 1960 campaign when Nixon reached for the Presidency on his own, the Warren family kept silent.

But now that Nixon is running for Governor in an effort to stage a political comeback and another chance at the White House in 1968, the young attorney from Sacramento, a lifelong Republican, is talking.

California Potpourri

Ex-Gov. Goodie Knight, who withdrew from the GOP race for Governor because of hepatitis, is restless. He would give anything to get back into the Republican primary. Knight throws up his hands over Nixon's political mistakes, says "I wouldn't hire Nixon as an attorney; he couldn't even find his way to the courthouse." . . . Bob Finch, Nixon's personal campaign manager in 1960, has telephoned friends that Nixon will go to Europe right after the California primary. This has caused dismay among Dick's friends; the Ex-Vice President is already charged with knowing more about Europe than he knows about California and this trip in the middle of a hot election campaign won't change that image . . . . To attract U. S. tourists, Danish tourist agents are touting the fact that Nixon will be at the Rold Skov, Danish Forest on the Fourth of July. When they told Herbert Davidson, editor of the Daytona Beach News and Journal, "Your Independence Day will be celebrated here this year by a speech by your former Vice President," Davidson, a strong Democrat, decided to tour elsewhere . . . . Joe Shell, the young Republican who is challenging Nixon in the Republican primary, won friends at the recent meeting of California publishers. A cocktail party in his honor was given by his home-town paper, the Montrose Ledger. Nixon's cocktail party before his speech was given by the Wall Street Journal. Nixon spoke and then departed. Joe Shell and Gov. Pat Brown spoke, then waited to talk to Publisher Lloyd Wright, hardshell Los Angeles attorney who is running against Sen. Tommy Kuchel in the GOP primary. He will get swamped. Wright is the man who recommended to Eisenhower that newspapers be curbed. Sen. Kuchel, a fair-minded Republican, will beat both Wright and, later, his Democrat opponent, Dick Richards, for an easy comeback to the U. S. Senate . . . . Harlan Hagen, the able Congressman from Hanford, doesn't believe in handing over his proxy to committee chairmen to vote for him. "This," he says, "gives the chairman of a committee too much leverage over legislation, which I do not regard as proper. I would judge that over half the voting on our Agriculture Committee is accomplished by proxy voting. I do not intend to deviate from my policy of casting my own vote." Hagen is right.

'Guilt By Association' Casts Cloud Again

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Suspicion does not necessarily mean guilt. Yet an emphasis on the improprieties committed by an official here and there in the Kennedy Administration in connection with the operations of Billie Sol Estes, a Texas businessman, has cast a cloud on the reputation of various persons who may be entirely innocent of any crime or wrongdoing.

"Guilt by association" has long been condemned as unfair. The fundamental principle written into the law of the land is that a person, even if charged with a crime, shall be considered innocent until actually proven guilty. Yet too often that same principle is disregarded by the tendency of politicians to argue cases in the press by inference or innuendo.

This writer called attention to this tendency to rely on suspicion rather than evidence when the name of Harry Vaughan was in the headlines during the Truman administration, because of his part in collecting contributions during the 1948 campaign and his acceptance later of the gift of a "deepfreeze" from a friend, and also when Sherman Adams, personal assistant to President Eisenhower, was similarly criticized because he took some gifts and accepted favors from an old friend who was trying to obtain governmental benefits.

Yet there has never been any evidence that either Harry Vaughan or Sherman Adams really violated any law. A defense of both men was made in these dispatches at the time. On the same basis the public today may be asked to withhold judgment before it assumes that the Administration itself is generally tainted with scandal just because some officials occasionally overstep the bounds of good sense or ethics. The fact that a political party in the past used these tactics against the other party is no justification for similar tactics now.

There is the case, for instance, of Jerry R. Molleman, who has just resigned as Assistant Secretary of Labor. He has known Mr. Estes for ten years, and they were close friends, both attending the Church of Christ in Austin, Texas, where Mr. Holleman taught a Sunday school class. The latter was assistant director of the 1960 national political campaign in his home state. Did he feel he knew Mr. Estes well enough to consider that, by accepting a gift, he would not be compromised? There is only one kind of operation in which the Department of Labor could play a part favorable to the Texas cotton man, and this has to do with migratory labor. Representative Jim Wright of Texas, Democrat, in a public statement says Mr. Holleman took a position opposite to that of Mr. Estes on this question.

This writer doesn't know Mr. Holleman but believes he may be receiving a punishment that is not deserved. He resigned, of course, to avoid political embarrassment to the Administration, but if he really did nothing wrong, then should not the resignation have been declined? Now will he carry a blemish the rest of his life?

Mr. Holleman has been active in politics for a long time. He was president of the Federation of Labor in Texas. Unhappily, the ways of politics develop customs which are condoned but which have their roots in a jaundiced view of what is ethical or unethical. Thus, Mr. Holleman apparently saw nothing wrong in the suggestion that Mr. Estes pay the expense of a dinner that was given by Secretary of Labor Goldberg last January in Washington in honor of Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Mr. Goldberg sensed the impropriety immediately, however, and insisted on paying for the dinner himself. Mr. Holleman would never have suggested it if he had not been accustomed to the ways of politics.

But, in the matter of gifts, where shall the line be drawn? Is it unethical for anybody connected with our government or a member of his family to accept presents of value from high officials of foreign governments which are anxious either to receive or to continue to receive American millions out of the "foreign aid" program? Does it make the giving of the gifts immune from criticism just because in some cases the acceptance is formally sanctioned?

What shall be said, moreover, of some of the donors who finance the $100-a-plate political dinners to pay campaign deficits? Many of those who buy a lot of tickets are engaged in business transactions with the government. As individuals, they put up hundreds of thousands of dollars a year to help one political party or the other. Persons close to the Administration do the soliciting of the money for the tickets. Do the donors buy these tickets wholly from an altruistic and philanthropic motive? President Kennedy has attended several of these $100-a-plate dinners in various parts of the country, and so has former President Eisenhower.

Congress is never very enthusiastic about investigating contacts between its own members and large organizations in business or in labor which are vitally interested or, even more, in the decisions that come from the numerous executive departments and agencies of the government. But the fact remains that the basic cause of improprieties, indiscretions and unethical conduct in relations between the government and its citizens can be traced to the low concept of political morality that has prevailed for a long time in America.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Stock Market

Nearly 16,000,000 Americans own the industrial, commercial and service out-put of the United States. There is undoubtedly some duplication in this figure, but that hardly affects the problem. Some of these Americans are institutions such as colleges and universities or mutual funds that have invested their funds in these industries and therefore the number affected is larger indirectly.

It is ridiculous for the new-fangled economists to say that there is no relation between the stock market and the economy. When the market tumbles, the immediate effect is lack of confidence. So-called smart people become liquid, that is, they sell their stocks and bonds and hold on to their cash, hoping to recoup by buying at lower prices. The rebound may be very slow. Those who buy on margin get telephone calls, asking them to cover and if they cannot, their losses may be so great that their private economic situation becomes hopeless. The very rich recoup more quickly by buying preferred European securities, or by purchasing real estate under certain circumstances, or jewels or works of art. Those who are not well off cannot do that. They must take their loss and suffer.

What is a share worth? There are as many opinions as there are buyers and sellers. Certainly no share of stock is worth 100 times the earnings of the company and those who purchase such a stock are speculators. An investor who buys in the hope that the enterprise will grow is on sounder ground or one who buys a stock that sells at about 10 times the earnings of a company is on less uncertain ground.

But when the buyer loses his money, there are no excuses that can be made to him. He translates his misfortune into an opposition to those who caused a general loss of confidence. And loss of confidence is the only reason why there is a general fall of stock prices. There is either loss of confidence in the economy, in the Administration or in international relations.

I have now asked over 100 persons, some of them economic majors, if they knew Gresham's Law. The answer for those under 30 is generally that they never heard of it. The significance of the reply is not that they do not know that bad money drives out good money; it is rather that they do not have a "feel" for money such as a small dealer must have if he is not to go out of business.

Money is a curious catalyst. Fed on confidence, it grows and makes everything about it grow; not fed on confidence, it becomes like an acid which makes everything about it shrivel. The miser, for instance, lacks confidence in the catalytic powers of money and therefore does nothing with it. He holds on to it.

Some believe that the cause of the present loss of confidence started when the President quarrelled with the United States Steel Corporation. That is not so. It started much earlier, as a study of stock prices will show.

The method of collecting the income tax has become so brutal that men are discouraged by the amount of time consumed in answering wasteful and invasion of their private lives and the unbelievable often stupid questionnaires. Because there are a comparatively small number of thieves who cheat, everybody has to be penalized by an indecent withholding tax which is a sign that a democratic government does not trust its own citizens to be truthful.

The American people are an honest people. Generally speaking, they do not cheat. They did not cheat before the withholding tax was instituted. Since then, those who wish to cheat have found ways of doing it. They have transferred their money to European and other countries. It is so easy to do. The fact that the Treasury is incompetent and does not find these manipulators is no reason for penalizing the whole American people and causing them to lose confidence.

President Kennedy would be wise to have an impartial body make a study of the causes of lack of confidence—utilizing a body, organized like the Hoover Commission, whose task forces did such splendid work, as the President knows because one of the most capable men on this Commission was his father; his brother, the Attorney General, worked for the Hoover Commission and the President, as Senator, introduced some of its measures in Congress.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TOP TOPICS—If mail to Congress is any criterion, the two top topics on the public mind these days are the steel price battle and the plan to withhold taxes on dividends and interest from bank and savings and loan accounts.

These two subjects are discussed most often in a blizzard of mail that is now hitting the Capitol. Some members of Congress report that they've never witnessed a heavier crop.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, of New Jersey, received more than 12,000 letters and postcards in a single week, a high point in his experience in the upper house. Taxes and steel prices were the two subjects most frequently mentioned.

Most senatorial and congressional offices are geared to handle heavy volumes of mail, but not all. Legislators make a point of trying to answer each communication from a constituent and some of them, during this crisis, are resorting to hiring private secretarial services to handle some of the load.

SHORT TAKES — A White House aide has told President Kennedy that his future reminiscences about the steel price fight could well be titled: "My $6 Crisis."

And a Capitol Hill wit says he can tell the difference between a conservative and a liberal by chemical analysis. If a politician expresses concern about the fluoridation of water, he's a conservative. If he's concerned about strontium 90, he's a liberal.

The Two Crises

By Joseph Alsop

LONDON

In the Far East, two crises are now going on at once. The one in Laos is getting all the attention, but the one on the Hong Kong border is every bit as interesting.

Almost everyone has been missing the dark drama, the really staggering implications of the new development on the Hong Kong border. This is because so few people realize that, on the Communist side, this narrow Chinese gateway to the outer world used to be as closely guarded as the grim border of East Germany.

During these last years, a tiny trickle of persons have been allowed to leave Communist China with official exit permits. Many thousands more have fled every month at dire risk of their lives. But almost none of these who fled came across the land border, which was far too heavily policed by the Communists. The perilous sea route was all but invariably used.

In the last few days, however, all this has changed. Thousands of refugees are now pouring across the land border every day. The close guard is not on the Communist side of the border any longer. It is on the Hong Kong side. The Hong Kong government fears that half the population of southeast China may pour across the suddenly opened border, into the already overcrowded city. Hence Hong Kong police and troops have been rounding up the pitiful refugees and pushing them back into Communist territory.

Why, then, has this border been so strangely opened, with such painful results? There are only two possible answers to the question.

The threat of famine in southeast China may be so severe and immediate that the Chinese Communist government has voluntarily flung wide the iron gate. If this is the explanation, the aim is to pass on to the Hong Kong government the task of feeding the maximum number of hungry people. But if this is the explanation, it must be added, this is the first time since the October revolution of 1917 that any Communist government anywhere on the face of the earth has ever taken such a step.

The other possible explanation is even more lurid. If the border has not been opened by order, it must then have been opened as a result of a collapse of the morale and discipline of the soldiers and police who form the Communist border guard. There are reports, buttressing this second explanation, of the appearance of at least one organized military unit amid the flood of desperate border crossers. The official analysis received in London from Hong Kong rate the second, more lurid explanation as being just about as probable as the first.

Whichever explanation is correct, there can be no doubt at all about the basic meaning of this astonishing development on the Hong Kong border. Whether the iron gate has been opened intentionally, or whether the gate has fallen of itself, the new development means that the internal situation in Communist China is even more desperate than anyone supposed. The evidence that this reporter turned up in Hong Kong some weeks ago was quite sufficiently flesh-crawling; but even on the basis of this evidence, the early opening or collapse of the iron gate could never have been forecast.

The crisis on the border of course calls for no action by the U. S. government, whereas the crisis in Laos has already forced the U. S. government to take rather drastic preliminary action. Nonetheless, the Laos crisis should clearly be judged, at least in large part, in the light of the border crisis and its inescapable meaning.

A year ago, the strongest argument against a strong policy in Laos was the calculation by the American Joint Chiefs of Staff that American intervention there would bring Chinese Communist intervention on a massive scale. The lesson of the Hong Kong border is that the Chinese Communists dare not intervene in Laos if they are still rational. Or if they are irrational and do intervene, the kind of strain revealed by the Hong Kong border crisis, increased by the heavy strain of intervention, must lead to far worse trouble for the Chinese Communists than for anyone else.

Thus the risk of being bold in Laos has been vastly reduced by the downward curve in China. Judging by the complacency displayed by the British government, which has always favored abandoning the Laos position, the U.S. government is not inclined to be bold in Laos. Much emphasis is also being placed in Washington on the weaknesses and errors of the anti-Communist Laotians.

These weaknesses are undoubted, as is the weakness of the American government, under both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy, in tolerating the large-scale invasion of Laos by regular troops of the North Vietnamese Communist army. But the question in Laos is not whether Gen. Phoumi Nosavan is a less amiable fellow than Prince Souvana Phouma, who is so much liked in the Foreign Office and in some quarters in the State Department.

The question in Laos is whether it is wise to hand the back door of South Viet Nam over to the Communists, while pouring men and munitions into South Viet Nam through the front door. One or the other policy makes sense, but not both.

Relaxation Best Treatment For Spastic Colon

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Dear Dr. Van Dellen: I have been taking medicine for two years for what my doctor calls spastic colon. He says I will have to take it the rest of my life. I get better and then worse. My abdomen pains and sometimes I get tightening of the throat. Tell me, what is spastic colon and what causes it?"

Most victims of this condition are tense and nervous. We might say they are as spastic as their intestine. These tension states must be corrected if the disorder is to improve. How this can be done depends upon the background and temperament of the individual along with his ability to withstand the stress of ordinary living.

The reader must take stock of his daily activities and determine what is bothering him and what he is doing to prevent relaxation and the enjoyment of life. Should this type of soul searching fail, there are other worthwhile suggestions. Exercise is a wonderful way to let off internal steam or tension. A long walk helps many whereas others are relaxed by swimming or playing golf or tennis.

Humor is a good antidote for tension. Seek more diversional entertainment on the lighter side. All this is easier said than done but nothing will be gained without establishing a goal. Also important are adequate rest and living in more peaceful and restful surroundings.

The intestinal tract is under the control of the nervous system and emotional problems are likely to be felt in the abdomen.

The modern antispasmodic drugs tend to divorce the brain from the intestine but this may not be enough to control symptoms. A rest or bland diet also minimizes the work of the bowel. But there is no substitute for tranquility, moderation, and a purpose for living.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on irritable bowel if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: The basic diet in pregnancy.

FOOT DROP

C. R. C. writes: My otherwise healthy 14 year old son has developed a dropped foot. Will you give me some information on this condition?

REPLY

The commonest cause of drop foot is palsy of the external popliteal nerve that innervates the muscles that lift up the toes and foot. A variety of conditions may be responsible, such as injury or lead poisoning. But there are many other possibilities, including polio, tumor of the spine, sciatica, and hysteria. A thorough examination is needed.

THE TONGUE IS OUT

J.D.V. writes: Years ago, whenever I went to a doctor, he would say first thing, "Stick out your tongue." But in the past several years, no doctor has asked me to do this. Isn't the tongue considered important any more?

REPLY

Yes, for testing and swallowing, but not as a good diagnostic aid. Physicians have learned to rely upon other signs and symptoms to determine whether a person is sick.

BALANCING MECHANISM

R.D. writes: Does Meniere's disease come from a cold or is the nervous system the cause?

REPLY

In this condition, the balancing mechanism of the internal ear is swollen. This may follow a cold or other respiratory infection but in most victims the cause is not known. Dizziness, ringing noises, and nausea develop without warning or apparent reason.

BARBER'S ITCH

R.V.G. writes: What is the best way to cure barber's itch?

REPLY

The antiringworm pill (griseofulvin) is the latest remedy. It is advisable also to keep the skin clean and the beard clipped or shaved, to prevent reinfection.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The meanest man in New York acknowledged an introduction to an eager young lady, appraised her shrewdly, and told her, "You look like a million dollars." Before she could express her pleasure, however, he added, "After taxes."

A missionary and a very un-Elsie-like lion met head-on in an impentrable jungle. Flight was out of the question; the missionary sank to his knees and prayed. To his astonishment, the lion did likewise.

"How miraculous, babbled the missionary, "to join you in prayer when just a moment ago I gave myself up for lost!"

"Quiet," ordered the lion severely. "I'm saying grace."

Patrolman Tom Coffee declares that he was within earshot when a tough young hood he was shadowing gave his girl friend a mink coat. "Ooh, Spike, it's bee-you-tee-ful," she simpered. "It must be worth at least five years."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

A seven-foot tall kangaroo is only an inch long at birth—nature item. That critter must grow by leaps and bounds!

Statistics show the average woman of today is 2½ inches taller, weighs 12 more pounds than did an average miss of 1900. Yesterday's "Little Woman" is a big girl now!

After an operation, Brutus, a London police dog, regained his sense of smell. What'd they do—give him a new nose?

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 16 years old. Next month I am going on my first real date. It's a school dance and then a bunch of us kids are going out to get something to eat in a restaurant.

I suppose you'll split your sides laughing but I need to know the answer to this. When the waitress brings the hamburgers and French fries who takes the first bite, the boy or the girl? Thank you a lot. —FIRST DATE

DEAR DATE: It doesn't matter who takes the first bite. The only thing to keep in mind is that a fellow isn't supposed to dive into his food until his date has her plate in front of her. You're welcome.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why can't you see the other side? Why not occasionally sympathize with the "other woman" who gives up everything for the man she loves instead of always siding with the wife who can't hold her husband?

I've been going with a man for ten years but his wife won't give him a divorce. He left her three years ago (for me) but she still hangs on. It's apparent that I'm the one he loves because I'm the one he takes on trips and buys gifts for.

She's not only a poor wife but a poor mother. She has never taught her children manners. When they see me with their father they don't speak to either of us? Wouldn't you think they'd have more respect for the man who supported and educated them?

Why can't people understand that a married man can fall out of love with a wife who has grown careless and dull? You are not only hard-hearted, Ann Landers, but hard-headed, as well.

—HORSE'S MOUTH

DEAR HORSE: I DO see the other side. I pity the "other woman" because she's a fool who must live always on the razor's edge. In the vast majority of cases she's providing some married man with kicks at tremendous personal sacrifice, while he enjoys the respectability of home and family.

The other woman eventually loses all opportunities for marriage. By the time she realizes Lover Boy is not going to put that piece of paper in her hand nobody else wants her. So you see, I can't endorse a setup which is immoral, illegal and foolish.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the idiot who thought it would be all right if his youngster burned himself "just a little" on the stove so he'd learn once and for all not to play with fire.

When I was a young man I sold Bibles door to door. I rang one lady's bell and she came to the door in a panic. Her child had gotten hold of an ice pick and he had just fallen it. The pick went into his eye. I rushed the woman and the child to the hospital. The child learned not to play with ice picks but it cost him the sight of an eye.

Another time I walked onto a porch just in time to see a youngster climb on a chair and pick up a loaded pistol from the piano. Fortunately, the door was open so I walked into the house and took the pistol from the child's hand.

The mother said "What are YOU doing in here?" I replied "Look, lady, anyone who doesn't know better than to leave a loaded gun within reach of a child certainly needs a Bible in the house."

I made the sale and maybe saved a life. Experience may be the best teacher, but what good is the teacher if the student dies?

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD — Natalie Wood can't stand to be separated more than her arm's length from Warren Beatty. So, she should be happy that Stanley Kramer wants them for the young lovers, Jennie and David, in "Ship of Fools," Katherine Anne Porter's No. 1 best seller.

Some people are beginning to wonder if Natalie's insistence on "togetherness" with a free soul like Warren is the best technique for this romance.

The male is a funny animal. As somebody's old aunt from Tijuana once said, "Keep 'em in sight. But you've got to let 'em off the leash now and then."

The fat's in the fire over NBC lifting a clip of Elvis Presley without permission and showing it on Art Carney's show Sunday night! All the way from New York I get word that Col. Tom Parker is so hopping mad in Hollywood that they could hear him without a telephone.

The thing that seems to be upsetting the good colonel the most, in addition to the "splice" not being paid for, is that the TV critics panned Elvis! That's really adding injury to insult, you all.

If the twist craze is waning you'd never guess it from the turnouts at Maurusia's Peppermint West. Those happy romantics Anita Ekberg and Rod Taylor were there recently twisting as one. And so were Rubirosa and his wife (although their trip here was a hurried one).

Even Kay Gable, with her new darkened hair, was on the sidelines watching with interest. Kay can twist, but prefers the privacy of her own valley west.

Next to Bob Hope, George Jessel is the most obliging of entertainers. Any worthy charity or morale-building bid gets George's immediate attention.

Now he is flattered and pleased to oblige the request of the 8th Air Force to put on a one-man show of our isolated air bases covering practically the same run that Bob covered at Christmas time. The GI's dig George and vice versa.

Whether Betty Hutton is the mother of a boy or another girl by the time you read this she's not lingering long in the nursery when she checks out of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital maternity wing.

In late June, she's off for three months of summer stock along the East Coast.

Because Betty has two daughters by her marriage to Ted Briskin, she and Pete Candoli are hoping for a boy.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

If Dean Martin doesn't wrap up "Something's Got to Give" with Marilyn Monroe in the next seven weeks, he'll start picking up $30,000 per week overtime.

Jane Wyman can tell you that lightning can strike twice. She's been a passenger on two separate planes hit by lightning, the first on her way back from Carmel months ago; the second, over Chicago during a tornado last weekend.

Ingrid Bergman will bank $300,000 for her TV appearance in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" for BBC this winter.

It should annoy Charles Chaplin, Sr., very much that the stork has threatened a pro-American touch surrounding the birth of his and Oona O'Neill's eighth baby. The medicos predict a July 4 birth.

Tony Curtis will be filming "40 Pounds of Trouble" in nearby Lake Tahoe when the annual silver spus awards excitement takes place in Reno this weekend. This year's winner is Dan Blocker of NBC's "Bonanza" series and Tony will be invited to be present when Dan gets his spurs. Previous winners were John Wayne and Richard Boone.

There's nothing like starting them out early: Eddie Albert has been giving son Eddie Jr. riding lessons in the fond hope he'll pick off a role in "Miracle of the White Horses" when Sr. takes Jr. with him to Vienna this summer.

I hope all the sick comics and sometimes sicker singers tuned in on "The Bing Crosby Show" Monday night. Cheerful, clean, bouncy, fast-moving—you couldn't get a smile off your face watching Bing, Bob Hope, Gary Crosby and Edie Adams go through their paces. So it's corn. Most of us like it a lot better than mud.

Louella Parsons wants me to thank Father Patrick Peyton very much for his charming letter to her and to extend her best wishes for the success of the Family Rosary Crusade dinner, into which so much work is going, on Sept. 8.

Cyd Charisse looks so sexy in "Two Weeks in Another Town" that somebody in the preview audience started whistling.

Shirley Johnson, ex of Johnny Johnson, a woosome twosome with Joe Kirkwood, Jr., at the Casa D'oro last night.

LaVale PTA Sets Final Meeting

The final meeting of the LaVale School PTA will be held today. The sixth grade students of Miss Kathleen High will present a puppet show for the program starting at 7:30 p.m. The students will use puppets they have made to dramatize Greek and Roman myths.

A short business meeting will follow. Miss Nellie Powell, principal, will install the new officers for the coming year: Robert V. Phillips, Jr., president; Kenneth Wolf, first vice-president; Jimmie D. Flanagan, second vice-president; Mrs. Donald Basilio, secretary; and Mrs. Russell Bucy, Jr., treasurer.

Refreshments will be served by the mothers of Mrs. Hilda Gerlner's and Mrs. Ann Cross's first grades.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Plan To Tan . . . Wisely

I can see no reason to reject the sun's invitation to look and feel radiantly alive!

Mind, though, that you acquire your tan in slow stages. Protect your skin with your favorite lotions and oils during and after exposure. And carefully relate your foundation, powder, lipstick and eyeshadow to your particular shade of tan.

The temptation to skip your regular application of foundation grows as your tan increases the fresh glow of your skin. But you'll rue this omission, come autumn, and a fading tan reveals your neglect in a coarsened texture and clogged pores. Besides, all summer long you will be missing the added life the correct shade of foundation gives a tan. Match it to your tan and see how it highlights your own color and makes your skin gleam!

As your tan develops, change your powder to keep it in step. Dusted on lightly and then smoothed off with clean cotton, it will control summer shine and moisture without the slightest make-up look, even on the most casual occasions.

To further glamorize your tan, overhaul your lipstick wardrobe. Deep, tawny-tanned brunette skins need the brightening contrast of brilliant orangy and true-red sticks. Golden-tanned blonde skins require the subtle shadings of golden-toned lipsticks such as coral or lacquer red. (Be warned, you blondes, that your skin when tanned takes on some of the color qualities of the brunette skin, which is never enhanced by purply hues.)

Although every suntan can be heightened by eyeshadow, reserve its use for proper occasions. As a regular thing and especially around the swimming pool, use colorless eye creams, oils and "shadows" that protect the lids as well as spark the eye of the nut-brown maid without being obvious!

SUMMER-FRESH BEAUTY . . . the year around! It's yours for the asking — just read SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY. Send for your copy today (enclosing 10c and a stamped, return envelope) to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Orchard Is Sold

Chertland Orchards Inc. has sold its orchard on the west side of a road leading from Winchester Road to River Road in Election District No. 7 at Pinto. The orchard was sold to Mountaindale Orchards, Inc., for about $3,600, according to a deed filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits nave been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled William Michael Skelley vs. Katherine Alice Skelley and Evelyn Virginia Dawson vs. Orville Walter Dawson.

To Be On TV Show

Color Photo Official To Address Chemists

DR. PAUL W. VITTUM

Dr. Paul W. Vittum, head of the color photography division of Eastman Kodak Company's Research Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y., will speak at a meeting of the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Section today at 7:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Dr. Vittum will speak on "Chemistry of Color Photography," and will discuss and illustrate the evolution of color photographic systems and the essential elements underlying modern systems. Presiding will be Ivan Hall, chairman of the local section ACS.

Dr. Vittum, a native of Iowa, received his AB degree from Cornell College, Iowa, and his PhD degree from Corneil University, Ithaca, N. Y. in 1933. His early research work at Eastman Laboratories was with fine grain developers, and in 1937 he transferred to the color research division. In his research, Dr. Vittum has contributed to the perfection of the Kodachrome, Kodacolor, Ektachrome and Ektacolor processes of color photography. He and Dr. W. T. Hanson, Jr., worked out the use of colored couplers used in processes such as Ektacolor.

Dr. Vittum has been active in the Rochester Section ACS, having served as chairman and councilor. He is active in other professional organizations as well as community organizations and has served his community as President of the Irondequoit District School Board.

The program will precede a buffet supper. This change has been instituted to promote better contacts among chemists of this area and to allow time for informal discussions with the speaker.

Annual Awards Assembly Held At Allegany

Student leaders received recognition yesterday as the Student Council of Allegany High School held its annual awards assembly in the school auditorium.

Charles Butt, president of the Student Council, and Thomas Miller, president-elect, presented awards to students active in music and arts, service, and scholarship. Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, council adviser, supervised the program.

The council presented a check for $100 to Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal, to be used, with the money appropriated by the council in other years, for the construction of a trophy case to house all non-athletic trophies of the school. The council's "Citizen of the Year" wall plaque, on which the name of the 1962 citizen, Mary Etta Eyler, is inscribed, was also presented to the school.

Carl Belt, in-coming vice president, and Elaine Solomon conducted the opening exercises. Linda Broadwater, vocalist, and Rebecca Gormer, dancer, provided entertainment. The Allegany dance band played.

Members of the Senate who received awards were Karen Holbrook, Sonja Keyser, Arvella Alt, Roger James, Dorothy Long, Patricia Shipley, Miller and Butt. Elaine Solomon and Doris Smith, senior members of the House of Representatives, also received letter awards.

More than 225 students were honored. Receiving awards were Anne Avirett, for the students honored for scholastic achievement; William Aumiller, band; Wayne DeHart, choir; Charles Dillow, Glee Club; Dorothy Moyer, Choral Club; Allen Moore, orchestra; and Joyce Klavuhn, Senior Art and Poster Club.

Donna Rice received the awards for the Future Nurses Club; Anne Brinsmade, "Allegewi"; James Grove, projectionists; Joyce Klavuhn, library aides; Roberta Shaffer, guidance office aides; Ray Stevanus, main office aides; Constance Clontz, vice principal's aides; Eleanor Kerr, teachers' secretaries; Dorothy Long, supply shop; Bernard Miles, safety services; and Karen Durr, health center aides.

Concluding the assembly, Butt spoke briefly of the accomplishments of the council during his term of office, and relinquished the gavel to Miller, who formally assumed his office for 1962-63.

Maryland Briefs

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The county commissioners have called off tentative plans for an August celebration of Carroll County's 125th anniversary.

The commissioners said the anniversary celebration would come too close to a Civil War celebration which is being planned for next year.

LA PLATA, Md. (AP) — A spokesman at Physician Memorial Hospital said doctors were enthused over the improved condition of Herbert R. O'Conor, Jr. Wednesday.

O'Conor was chairman of Gov. Tawes' successful campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

O'Conor received serious injuries in an auto accident near Waldorf only two days before the primary elections.

He is the son of a former Maryland governor and United States Senator.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Henry Sands, 28, has broken his fast at City Jail after being arrested last Thursday on charges of trespassing at Millers Brothers Restaurant.

Sands, Baltimore chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, ate soup and took some vitamins Tuesday night, five days after his arrest.

He has been held on $100 bond for Criminal Court action after a preliminary hearing May 11. His lawyer, Solomon Baylor, planned to arrange for Sands' release while Sands awaits a jury trial.

Vote Canvass

Anderson of Cumberland gained the sixth GOP nomination.

There was no Democratic primary for the House of Delegates because only six men filed for the six nominations. Heading the Democrat candidates is Delegate Thomas F. Conlon Jr., who seeks re-election to a second term. Other candidates for the House of Delegates in November will be Irvin C. Alexander, George A. Boch, John R. Hutzell, James S. Stafford and George D. Walters.

Clarence C. Myers of Winchester Road won the Democratic nomination for sheriff Tuesday and will run against Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein in November. The sheriff had no Republican primary opposition.

The three incumbent county commissioners, two Democrats and a Republican, all won nomination Tuesday for new four-year terms. The GOP nominees, all endorsed by a "Committee of 1,000," are Louis V. Shinnamon, incumbent; Robert Little Ebert and Russell H. Carder. Their Democratic rivals in November will be John J. Long, now a city councilman in Cumberland; John T. Mason and John J. Rowan, both incumbents.

There was no Democratic primary for Orphans Court judges as only three filed for the three positions. Raymond T. Farrell, a judge by appointment, will be on the ballot in November along with Howard P. Loughrie and Samuel T. Weatherholt.

Two other Republicans besides Sheriff Haberlein, who lacked primary opposition, will face a Democratic rival in November. They are County Treasurer James W. Bishop, whose Democratic opponent will be Carl H. Ruffo of Frostburg, and Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court whose opponent will be Democrat William B. Orndorff, now the county tax collector.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and James M. Roby, register of wills, both Republicans, had no opposition Tuesday and will be unopposed in November. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, a Democrat appointed by Governor J. Millard Tawes, filed for judge on both the Democratic and Republican tickets and will be unopposed in November.

Tawes Wins

against Perry O. Wilkinson, a delegate for 20 years and House speaker for the past four. Sickles even won in Prince Georges County where Wilkinson was part of the Lansdale G Sas.scer organization.

The organization licking included defeat of Sasscer's son for the State Senate nomination.

Miller encountered trouble with James P. Gleason, who has lived in Maryland only 12 of his 40 years. Miller won by only about 6,000 votes and the indicated unit vote was 90-62.

Of course, the Hume showing was a major moral victory for an independent newcomer. He also successfully bucked the Sasscer organization and in addition to Montgomery County he was the leader in Washington.

This is the home of W. Preston Lane Jr., former Democratic governor, who had come out unequivocally for Tawes.

In Baltimore City, two veteran legislators were voted out. George W. Della, a state senator since 1939 and twice its president, and J. Raymond Buffington, in the House and Senate since 1939, both lost.

And once more, critics were saying that Jack Pollack had lost his grip in Baltimore City.

His choices for state's attorney, judge, and two delegates in the neighborning 5th District did lose. But with Pollack's backing, Mahoney won the 4th district for the first time.

Allegany County Returns Show Few Close Contests

With only the absentee vote to be counted today as part of the official canvass, there was little doubt about the winners in Tuesday's Allegany County primary election.

Unofficial returns from all 45 polling places follow:

Opening lead: Six of ♥

East did not bother to follow the spots in the heart suit today. His failure, thoroly, to analyze his partner's opening lead, enabled the declarer to sneak off with a vulnerable game.

The bidding was reasonable and, against the three no trump contract, West opened the six of hearts. The nine was played from dummy and, without a moment's hesitation, East covered with the ten. Declarer gathered in the trick with the queen and proceeded to establish the diamonds by leading the king.

West stepped in with the ace of diamonds to lead another heart, felling the king and ace, South now proceeded to run the diamond suit, but found himself still one trick shy of his quota. He, therefore, led a small spade from his hand in the vague hope that something favorable would happen even tho the opponents had grimly held on to all of their hearts.

He was duly rewarded when West was able to cash only two heart tricks after playing his ace of spades. East unfortunately did not have a heart spot to top his partner's eight. This roadblock could have been avoided had East paid a little more attention to the first trick before following suit.

Assuming that his partner has opened his fourth best heart, East can see at once that declarer has only two hearts, but in any case it must be suicidal to leave himself with the four lowest hearts in the pack. The ten must be retained at all costs.

East should therefore play the five of hearts on the first trick as an encouraging signal. When West is in with the ace of diamonds, he will clear the heart suit and, when he regains the lead, East can overtake West's eight of hearts with the ten to cash the setting tricks.

High Winds Cause Damage To Plane At Local Airport

A J3 Piper Cub owned by the Nash Flying Service at the Cumberland Municipal Airport was damaged extensively Monday when it was toppled by high winds.

John Nash, who operates the flying service, said damage to his plane amounted to about $600 which is covered by insurance.

Winds up to 45 miles an hour lifted the plane off the ground, broke the landing gear on the right side causing damage to the wing tip.

The plane was anchored near the east end of the field when the winds caused the damage about 3:30 p. m.

FOP Meeting Friday

Election of officers will be held on Friday by Cumberland Lodge 90, Fraternal Order of Police, who will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the National Guard Armory in Frostburg. Refreshments will be served, said John Daum, secretary.

No man lives in the Mountains of the Moon, the eerie Ruwenzori ranges of east-central Africa. People could doubtless survive in the cold, wet and misty highlands, says the National Geographic Magazine. But the silence, the dank smell, and the enormous size to which ordinary plants and bushes grow have proved overwhelmingly depressing to the few hardy souls making the ascent.

Potomac State Plans Sermon To Graduates

Baptist Clergyman To Speak May 31

KEYSER—Dr. William E. Hayler, pastor of Clarksburg Baptist Church, will deliver the annual sermon to graduates of Potomac State College May 31 at 7:30 p. m. in the college gymnasium. His subject is "Honest Doubt."

A native of London, England, the speaker received an AB degree from Ottawa University in Kansas. After pastorates in Kansas and New Hampshire he returned to school, completing work for the bachelor of divinity degree. He continued work toward a doctorate in theology while a pastor at a church in the Chicago area.

Before going to Clarksburg, Dr. Hayler was a member of the field staff of the American Baptist Convention, serving as a missionary worker in Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Kansas. At present he is a member of the General Council, American Baptist Convention, and is its representative on the National Commission of Ministry. He has served five years on the executive board of the West Virginia Baptist Convention as a member of the advisory committee, and is chairman of the Committee on Evangelism. He is also a member of the Ordination Committee and the board of trustees of Broaddus Hospital.

Barton Personals

Mrs. Richard Keyes is visiting her sister Mrs. Leon Johnson, Leetsdale, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Francis, Riverdale, Md.

Rev. and Mrs. George Roberts are visiting in Florida.

Mrs. Ray Glass is a patient in the Miners Hospital.

Mrs. William Shuhart is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Eichorn at Arnold, Md.

Fire Auxiliary Lists Delegates

BARTON—The Ladies Auxiliary to Barton Hose Company No. 1 met a recent evening with Mrs. Jane Davis presiding.

Mrs. Davis appointed several ladies to attend the Allegany Garrett executive meeting at Flintstone. Mrs. Ruth Oneil was reported ill at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Plans were made to hold a covered dish supper on May 29 in the New Fire Hall. All members are invited to attend.

MISS JANE REXROAD

Burlington Student Nurse Is Honored

KEYSER — Miss Janet Rexrode, a freshman at Winchester Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Winchester, Va., was elected "Miss Student Nurse" in a competitive speech contest.

The theme of the speech was "So Long as We Love, We Serve." Misses Bernice Gray, Mary Locke, Sherri Kercheval, and Nancy Carper also competed in the contest. Miss Rexrode presented her speech at the District Meeting in Alexandria on May 5.

A native of Burlington, she is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rexrode. She was a 1961 graduate of Keyser High School. While in Winchester she has been president of the freshman class, is now serving as program chairman of the Student Government Association, and will leave May 16 for the National Student Nurses' Convention in Detroit.

Miss Rexrode was officially crowned at a Student Nurse Dance given in her honor at the Lee-Jackson Ballroom on May 11. Music was by the Rhythm Kings from Shenandoah College.

PSC Announces Spring Concert

KEYSER—The annual public spring concert will be presented by the Potomac State College Music Department at 8 p. m. Friday in the college gymnasium. Featured will be the Concert Band, consisting of 53 students, and Stage Band, consisting of 17 students, under the direction of Charles Whitehill.

Among selections to be played by the Concert Band are "Almeda Paso Doble," "Das Pensionat," "Larghetto," "The United States Steel Suite" "Greensleeves", "Manhattan" and "Wagner Showcase."

The Stage Band will present "How High the Moon," a trombone solo by Dennis Morey; "Cherry Pink," a trumpet solo by Robert Mitchell; "Big Band Themes;" "Little Girl," a trombone solo by Herbert Lambert, and "Wonderland by Night," a saxaphone solo by Ervin Fink.

Announce Birth

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beeman, RD 1, Frostburg, announce the birth of a son Tuesday in Miner's Hospital.

Close Contests Highlight Garrett County Primary

OAKLAND—The complete and unofficial returns of Tuesday's primary election in Garrett County, indicate a much heavier than usual turnout for a primary, and wide interest was shown by members of both parties.

One of the interesting factors in the local contest is the judgeship race between incumbent Stuart F. Hamill, Democrat and W. Dwight Stover and Stephen R. Pagenhart, Republicans. Judge Hamill, easily carried the Democrat ticket running far ahead of his two opponents.

On the Republican ticket, he showed surprising strength, running far ahead of Pagenhart and closing rapidly on Stover. On the Democrat ticket, Hamill led his nearest opponent by close to 1,000 votes, while on the Republican side he trailed in second place by only 500 tallies.

Observers are looking forward to an interesting race between Hamill and Stover in November.

The race for governor was close with Tawes carrying the county by a margin of 33 votes over Mahoney, who had listed Garrett among his "sure" counties.

FSTC Outlines Summer Course

FROSTBURG — Forty-six of the fifty-five courses offered in the summer session at Frostburg State Teachers College opening on June 25 will be in the arts and sciences on both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

On the undergraduate level arts and science courses are appropriate for students pursing liberal arts or four-years pre-professional programs. On the graduate level they are appropriate for those pursing advanced degrees.

Seventeen, or nearly one third of all the courses offered are in science and mathematics with the remaining courses being distributed in art, education, English, geography, history, music, physical education, political science and sociology.

Advance registrations indicate that enrollments in the various courses will be heavy.

Hurt In Fall

FROSTBURG — Children who will be entering Beall Elementary and Junior High School in September will be examined on Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the school auditorium, according to Earl Brain, principal. All children must be examined before entering school and Dr. Martin Rothstein, Dr. William B. O'Connor and Mrs. Lois Jackson, health nurse will be on hand at this time.

Mineral Co. Teachers Hold Annual Election

Owen S. Schaeffer Re-Elected Prexy

KEYSER—Owen S. Schaeffer, a member of the faculty at Keyser High School, was re-elected president of the Mineral County Education Association May 14 at the group's annual banquet held at the Keyser fire hall.

Other officers re-elected are Virgil Hull, Keyser, vice-president; Mrs. Harriett Sheetz, Keyser, secretary; and Mrs. Mildred Burgess, Elk Garden, treasurer. Also elected to the WVEA Delegate Assembly in Charleston was President Schaeffer with Virgil Hull as alternate.

Serving on the program committee were Mesdames Sheetz, chairman; Carson Haines, Nelle Smith, Wilma Schaeffer, and Willard Kitzmiller. The nominating committee was comprised of Miss Ethel Boyer, chairman; Mrs. Kathryn Brill, and Miss Flora Swecker.

The program featured a facsimile of the television program, "Password." Virgil Hull was moderator with Mrs. Mary Goldsworthy, Mrs. Phyllis Chapman, C. N. Wimer, and Victor Marsh participating. Mrs. Robert Brown, Romney, presented a musical pantomine.

Four Faculty Members To Leave PSC

KEYSER — Leaving Potomac State College at the end of this semester will be Dr. Louise McNeil Pease, Bert L. Simpson, Joseph F. Glencoe and Maj. Thomas E. McBride, faculty members.

Simpson, director of Student Affairs, and Glencoe, of the Biological Science Department, both on iterim appointments at PSC, will be replaced by David G. Nuzum, presently on leave to study at Texas University, and James T. Handlan, on sabbatical leave to study at Syracuse University, respectively.

Maj. Thomas E. McBride, PMS, has been assigned to the regular course at Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Capt. Ernest A. Ackiss Jr., of the Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., and Capt. Paul P. Rotrann Jr., Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky., will join the college ROTC Department in the fall.

Dr. Pease, professor of history, has accepted a position on the Concord College teaching staff.

Miss Louise Ward, a member of the faculty at Keyser High School since 1932-33, has been recommended for appointment to the PSC faculty, beginning in September, as assistant librarian and assistant professor of English. Prior to coming to Keyser, she taught at Elk Garden.

Barton Auxiliary Plans Poppy Sale

BARTON — The American Legion Auxiliary of Barton announces that 1962 Poppy Day will be observed here on Saturday. Mrs. Floyd Gattens is Poppy chairman.

Poppy Day has one basic purpose, to provide a personal means of honoring the nation's war dead. Volunteer workers from the Girl Scout Troop here will donate their time to hold this annual sale.

Auxiliary officials said all funds received from Poppy Day go to disabled veterans or their families.

Director Maryland Mine Bureau Plans Retirement

FROSTBURG—Frank T. Powers, who has been employed by the State of Maryland since 1918, will retire June 1. He began his employment as a mine inspector, and in 1949 was appointed director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Powers was born October 29, 1888 in Frostburg, the son of John and Rachael Powers. He is married to the former Miss Mary Brady and they are the parents of one son, Dr. William Powers, a local optometrist.

At the age of 13, Powers started to work for the Union Mining Company. In 1908 he went to work for the Consolidated Coal Company and was appointed state mine inspector in 1918. After serving in the Army during World War I, he was discharged in 1919.

Powers was reappointed state mine inspector in 1920 and held the office until 1949 when he was appointed director to succeed Dr. John J. Rutledge. He assumed his duties in Annapolis, and two months later the office of the Bureau of Mines was moved to Westernport.

During his tenure of office, Powers' chief interest has been the health and safety of those employed in the coal mines, and the promotion of Maryland coal. He was instrumental in having Maryland mining laws revised in 1950, and to further promote safety a mine rescue station was established at Kitzmiller in 1950.

In 1946, Powers was appointed to the Maryland Veterans Commission by the late Gov. Herbert O'Conor, and still serves on that commission.

Powers is a long-time member of the Frostburg Fire Department and was affiliated with the Arion Band for over 30 years, but had to resign because of other duties. He is a member of the Western Maryland Safety Engineers Society, National Mine Rescue Association, Coal Mining Institute of America, Mine Rescue Veterans Association and Mine Inspectors Institute of America. He also serves on the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped.

A public testimonial dinner honoring Powers will be held in the American Legion Home May 22 at 6:30 p. m. (DST).

Miss Casto Will Edit 1963 PSC Yearbook

KEYSER—Constance C. Casto, journalism major from Clarksburg, will be editor of the 1963 Catamount at Potomac State College and William R. Hockman, arts and sciences major from Thurmont, Md., will serve as business manager.

The newly-appointed editor of the yearbook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Casto. She attended Victory High School where she served as co-editor of the newspaper and yearbook, The Optic. A member of the National Honor Society, and president of the Future Teachers of America, she was awarded the Harrison County Future Teachers scholarship and a board of governors scholarship to Potomac State.

At PSC she has been appointed to the editorial board of the Pasquino, is a member of Kappa Delta Psi sorority and Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society.

Hockman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Hockman, was president of the Student Body and served as business manager of his school newspaper, Pied Piper, at Thurmont High. He is a member of the concert and ROTC marching bands at Potomac State.

The 1962 Catamount is in the final stages of printing and should be ready for distribution before final examinations.

St. Joseph's PTA Elects Officers

Mrs. Marie McKinley was elected vice president; Mrs. Jean Coleman, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Brant, treasurer.

The PTA will hold a bazar at the firemen's hall on Saturday, June 9. There will be games and refreshments.

Dress-Up Day Is Feature Of Centennial

FROSTBURG — Saturday is the official Dress Up Day for the coming Frostburg Sesquicentennial it was announced today by sunbonnet chairman, Mrs. Edward P. Flanigan.

On that day all ladies of the community are to be wearing old fashioned dresses and bonnents as they come down town to do their shopping. A special request that all store clerks wear the costumes was voiced by Mrs. Marshall Ferree, co-chairman of the committee.

An advance sale of bonnets has been most successful as over 200 are now in the hands of the ladies of the area. Bonnets can be purchased at headquarters or at Griffith's store. A sale of bonnets on Main Street is planned from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Saturday.

Gov. Barron To Speak At PSC June 1

Will Address Class Of 1962

KEYSER — Gov. William Wallace Barron will deliver the address to the Class of 1962 at the fifty-ninth annual commencement exercises in the Potomac State College gymnasium June 1 at 10:30 a. m.

The governor is expected to arrive by plane from Charleston at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Present for the exercises will be three members of the board of governor of West Virginia University, which is also the governing board for Potomac State: James H. Swadley Jr., Keyser; Cyrus S. Kump, Elkins, and Charles G. Wise Jr., Charleston. All three are members of the Potomac State College committee to the board of governors. Kump is chairman.

The sermon to graduates will be given May 31. Rev. Robert D. Cook, BD, pastor of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, has been invited to give the invocation and benediction at both the sermon and commencement. Music at both functions will be by the Potomac State Singers, directed by Leonard G. Withers with Miss Frances D. Sarullo as accompanist, and by the College Band under the direction of Charles D. Whitehill.

Following the commencement program, lunch will be served in Davis Hall for the governor and his party, members of the board of governors, administration and college staff, and other invited guests.

Discontinue Classes

Upper Potomac Fire Seminar Set For June 2

23 Companies To Participate

MOOREFIELD — The Upper Potomac Fire Safety Seminar will be conducted at Firemen's Hall, Moorefield on Saturday, June 2. Sponsors of the seminar are the Potomac Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association and the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company. The association is composed of 23 volunteer fire companies from six counties.

Speakers scheduled for the seminar are L. E. Shingledecker, superintendent of Safety, Commercial and Industrial lines, Nationwide Insurance Co., Columbus, Ohio. Shingledecker was safety director for nine years with the National Company, Superior Engine Division, and for four years supervisor of Fire Safety for Mills Mutual Insurance Company and for 10 years supervisor of fire safety for Nationwide, working with volunteer, paid and industrial fire groups developing fire prevention programs on local, state and national scale.

He is a member of the American Cancer Society of Safety Engineers, of the Rural Fire Protection Committee of the National Fire Prevention Association and is executive secretary of the Ohio Fire Brigade Association.

Also speaking will be Charles H. Donaldson, Leonardtown, Md., a graduate of Oklahoma State University School of Fire Protection, under Mose Douglas, chief of Lexington Park Volunteer Fire Department, chief operator of St. Mary's County Emergency Control Center, member of the Firemen's Training Committee, Maryland State Firemen's Association, and is a part time instructor of the Fire Extension Service, University of Maryland.

Other speakers are scheduled for the seminar and discussion panels.

Junior Tri-Hi-Y Installs At Valley

Moorefield Cabinet Plant Is Expanding

Add Equipment, New Buildings

MOOREFIELD — The Raygold Manufacturing Company is completing the construction of new additions to the manufacturing plant to add 20,000 square feet of space. A good portion of the lot was regraded and excavated to accommodate the new structures.

Two new steel buildings have been added, one of which is the second story of a concrete block building. In addition to the new structures the old plant will be recovered and painted. The color scheme will be the state colors of gold and blue.

Allen Hazard, plant superintendent, said that approximately 165 are currently employed in the operation, an all time high, and that he couldn't forsee at this time whether additional employes would be needed when modernization is completed. Some of the processing machinery will be relocated in the plant and the flow of the manufacturing process will be changed.

The Raygold Manufacturing Company makes cabinets under the trade names of Dimensional Kitchens and Panelrama Kitchens. Dr. Alvin Goldhush, president of the company, purchased the plant from Moorefield Development Company the first of the year, after leasing the factory for the past four years.

The expansion program was financed by the Moorefield Development Company through the South Branch Valley National Bank and the Maryland National Bank.

The Raygold plant has provided steady employment for local workers for the past four years and the current annual payroll is nearly a half a million dollars. The products made in the Moorefield plant have a ready acceptance in the trade and are distributed throughout the east, south and into the midwest. The company had to train all the local employes and have had a constant program of research and improvement in perfecting its products.

24 PSC Students Elected Members Honor Society

KEYSER — Twenty-four Potomac State College students, 10 sophomores and 14 freshmen, recently elected by the faculty to membership in Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society, were guests last night at the society's annual dinner in the dining room of Davis Hall.

Dr. Eston K. Feaster, President of Fairmont State College, was speaker and guests included faculty members, active members of the Honor Society, and parents of the students.

Miss Julia Hathaway, medical secretarial student from Rowlesburg, has been chosen to serve as president and Miss Bernadine Rollins, Keyser, pre-medical student, as vice-president for the coming year.

Membership in the Honor Society, considered the highest honor to be achieved on campus, is based on scholarship and campus citizenship.

At the banquet Dean K. S. McKee offered the invocation. Incumbent president Joseph Griffin welcomed the guests, and President E. E. Church introduced the speaker. Future plans of the organization, introduction of new officers and parents followed.

ON DEAN'S LIST — Harry W. Raines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil L. Raines, of Luke, was named to the Dean's List last term at Strayer Junior College in Washington, D.C. Mr. Raines graduated from Bruce High School in 1956. He is enrolled in the Financial Administration Course at Strayer, working toward his Associate in Arts degree. In addition to maintaining a superior scholastic record, Mr. Raines is holding down a work-study position with Johnson Lemon & Co., a brokerage firm in Washington.

Nancy A. Jenkins Is Awarded PVH Nurse Scholarship

KEYSER — Announcement has been made that the third annual nursing scholarship given by Potomac Valley Hospital has been awarded to Miss Nancy Anne Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Cessare, 92 South Mineral Street, Keyser.

Miss Jenkins is a member of the Senior Class of St. Peter's High School, Westernport, Md. At St. Peter's she has participated in dramatic activities and is first page editor of the school paper, the "Peterian." She is Mission President, and this year was awarded the Palladin medal at a Pontifical Mass in Cumberland. She is a member of the National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll. Miss Jenkins has been accepted by Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland, Md., and will enter training in September.

The Potomac Valley Hospital first established the scholarship in 1960 and dedicated it to Miss Mayme Kessler in recognition of her many years of service to the nursing profession. Previous recipients are Miss Charlotte McBride, who is now completing her second year of training at Memorial Hospital, and Miss Nancy Eversole, who is a student at Kings Daughters Hospital School of Nursing, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Minimum Pay Ruling Helps School Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Minimum Wage Board ruled Wednesday that the Berkeley County Board of Education did not have to abide by current state minimum wage rates in construction of schools at Hedgesville and Bunker Hill.

The board entered the ruling after concluding its first hearing since it became effective last June under action by the 1961 Legislature.

It continued until Monday consideration of protests by Berkeley, Jefferson, Morgan and Ritchie County officials that minimum wage rates fixed for their areas by State Labor Commissioner Lawrence Barker were "unrealistic" and should be revised.

Under the 1961 law, Barker must set minimum wage rates for public construction projects in the state, determining the rates on the basis of studies including economic conditions in areas of the state and prevailing wages being paid.

The Berkeley County contention in the Hedgesville and Bunker Hill cases was that the projects had been started prior to the filing of the current wage rates and thus were exempt.

Barker filed the current rates last Feb. 1 and said they were effective at that date. The Berkeley officials said bids had been advertised on the schools during December and the wage board agreed that the action constituted actual initiation of the projects before the wage rates became effective and upheld the county's protest.

The initial hearing bogged down somewhat in procedural difficulties. After discussion, it was agreed that the hearing would be conducted on an informal basis with the protests not being considered in the manner of formal complaints.

Charleston contractor Paul R. Anderson Sr. is chairman of the six-member board appointed by Gov. W. W. Barron. The board expected it would reach a conclusion Monday on the overall wage rate protests of the four counties and "advise" Barker whether he would have to revise the rates.

Though agreeing Barker did all that was required of him under the law, the counties argued that the rates set were generally higher than justified.

Barker noted he attempted to seek information and advice from county governmental and education officials and contractors before arriving at the rates but received replies from only "about one-tenth of 1 per cent of them."

He said he had no choice but to use data available, including statistics from the U. S. Labor Department, to set the wage rates. "If my approach on the rates was wrong, no one told me," he said. He indicated other counties probably would be approaching him in the future.

Berkeley officials said it would have cost the county an additional $62,551 dollars in labor costs at Hedgesville and Bunker Hill if they had lost their protest.

Beall Challenges Roosevelt's Claim S&L Firm Didn't Pay Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J Glenn Beall, R-Md., challenged Wednesday a statement attributed to Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., that he was not paid for his services as chairman of the board of the now defunct Family Savings & Home Loan Association, Silver Spring, Md.

In a Senate speech Beall said Roosevelt made the statement on a Washington television program May 8, the same day he testified before the Montgomery County grand jury. The grand jury is investigating the savings and loan situation in Maryland.

Beall said Roosevelt had testified before a Senate Banking subcommittee in July 1958 that he was paid $6,000 a year by Family Savings & Home Loan Association.

Beall said that since Roosevelt's statement on television followed so closely his appearance before the grand jury, he assumed Roosevelt also told the grand jury that he was not paid in any way.

The senator said Roosevelt testified four years ago — in July 1958 — before a Senate banking subcommittee that he was paid $6,000 a year by Family Savings.

Beall told the Senate he would like to know "which of the statements are true and which are false. Was our committee being deceived? Or, was the grand jury being deceived?"

The senator said Family Savings and Home Loan Association, which he said Roosevelt defended before the Senate subcommittee, has gone out of existence.

"Its president, John Gregory Persian," Beall added, "has been indicted for grand theft, and its depositors are unable to get their money from the so-called insurer, despite all the protestations of 'soundness'."

Beall also said that Sherman S. Cohen, general counsel for Family Savings and Home Loan Association, testified at the 1958 Senate subcommittee that Roosevelt at that time had received his first check from the association.

The Washington Post on May 9, Beall said, reported Roosevelt told a reporter he received $3,000, half a year's salary, not from "Family" but from the American Council of Independent Savings and Loan Associations. Beall identified this as "one of three outfits run by Cohen and Persian," and said that Roosevelt was honorary president.

"I understand from the newspaper account that Mr. Roosevelt said last week that he was with Family only 50 days, for he found it was dishonest, but that he continued with the council for six months and was paid for six months.

"There are two things wrong here: First, had he suddenly found dishonesty, he surely would have exposed it at once (did he not owe that to the poor depositors whom he must have known would lose their savings?); and, second, after finding dishonesty, why would he continue with the same men six months?"

Roosevelt said that when "I stated that Family had not paid me in any way," was a correct statement.

Roosevelt said he was under contract with American Council and did not immediately discover that payments to him were advanced by Family.

He added that when he discovered this he immediately reimbursed Family.

But Beall was correct, Roosevelt added, regarding the transcript of the hearing before the Senate House subcommittee.

"It does appear I was paid," he said. He added "this was a mixup caused by Family advancing the pay."

"I don't know why they did it that way," he said.

"However, the clear fact is that Family never paid me one penny."

Britain Has No Plans For Further A-Tests

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday it is unlikely Britain will have to carry out more nuclear tests of its own.

He told the House of Commons that results of the current American tests will be available to British scientists under the agreement by which Britain leased Christmas Island as a testing ground. Sixteen British scientists are on the island as observers.

Firm's State Sales Up

Increased sales volume in Maryland made a significant contribution to the growth of Allstate Insurance Companies in 1961, President Judson B. Branch said yesterday. Allstate's direct premiums written in Maryland were $6,949,000, an increase of $912,000 over the previous year.

Allstate companies have 879,000 policies in force in Maryland, with 127 employes including 67 full time agents. Allstate Insurance Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Extra Base Blows Pace Pittsburgh

McBean And Olivo Stop Braves; Stuart, Burgess Hit Homers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates parlayed extra-base power with "economy" pitching by Alvin McBean and Diomedes Olivo to shut out the Milwaukee Braves 6 - 0 Wednesday night.

Eight of the 11 Pirate hits went for extra bases, including homers by Smoky Burgess and Dick Stuart, a pair of triples by Bill Virdon and McBean's run scoring three bagger.

McBean, a Braves' nemisis since last year when he beat them for his first two major league victories, was forced to leave the game in the sixth inning when he injured his right elbow on a pitch.

Although erratic with five walks and hitting two batters, he was effective in the clutches when he retired the Braves with the bases loaded in the third and fourth innings. Olivo retired all but one of the 12 batters who faced him. McBean, who now paces the Pirate pitchers with a 4-1 mark, and Olivo gave only five hits between them.

Kiwanis Stops Optimists, 5-3, Behind Bruce

Jaycees, Elks Open With Wins

Dave Bruce fired a one-hitter as the Kiwanis Club stopped the defending champion Cumberland Optimists, 5-3, in their Hot Stove Baseball League opener yesterday at Mason Road field.

Bruce struck out eight, but walked six and had his mates make four errors behind him to give the Optimists an early 3-2 lead.

Kiwanis knotted the score with a run in the fifth, then broke the deadlock with its winning two-run rally in the seventh. Jim Brannon opened the frame with a single and moved up as Bob Klingler collected the second of his two base hits for the game.

Brannon scored the tie-breaking run on a fielder's choice and two walks then forced over an insurance run for the victors.

In a game called after six innings because of darkness at Fort Hill field, the Jaycees blanked the Lions, 9-0, on a one-hit pitching effort by Hal Dougherty.

The Jaycees righthander whiffed five and walked only one, yielding a fifth-inning single to Johnson to spoil his no-hit effort.

Daugherty paced the Jaycees at the plate also with three hits while his batterymate, catcher Donnie Sewell, collected two singles. Gary Hixenbaugh slammed a three-run double in the big third inning when the Jaycees iced the verdict by scoring seven runs.

The Elks downed the Outdoor Club, 10-7, in a wild contest at Penn Avenue yesterday as the two teams scored 12 runs in the seventh inning.

Leading 3-2 in the top of the seventh the Elks pushed over a big seven runs, then had to withstand an ODC rally which produced five tallies in the bottom half of the frame.

Jimmy Joyce went the route for the Elks, weathering the five-run outburst against him as he picked up his initial win of the season. He also collected four consecutive hits to pace the Elks at the plate. Steve Snoots banged out a triple and a single and Rick Swick had a three-bagger for the winners. Tim Scaletta and Ken Green had two hits apiece for the Outdoor Club. The results:

Tom Bowers played an outstanding game at shortstop for the Elks.

Two games in the league are slated tonight at 6 o'clock. Salvation Army meets Rotary Club at Penn Avenue field and B'nai B'rith will oppose Bedford Road Optimists at Mason Road. The results:

Musial Ties Wagner Mark As Cards Bow

San Francisco Cops N.L. Contest, 7-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stan Musial tied the National League career hit record Wednesday but league-leading San Francisco unleashed its power in a five-run seventh inning and belted his St. Louis Cardinals 7-2.

The 41-year-old Cardinal outfielder singled sharply to right center off winning pitcher Juan Marichal in the sixth inning for his 3,430th hit, tying Honus Wagner's standard.

In three other trips Musial fouled out, flied out, and walked. Since getting his 3,429th hit a week ago he had gone hitless in 15 tries before his single.

St. Louis starter Ernie Broglio gave the Giants one scratch single until the sixth. With two out, Cepeda singled and Felipe Alou hit his fifth homer tying the score 2-2.

Broglio was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and the Giants quickly bombed reliever Lindy McDaniel.

Rec Softball Loop To Open With 7 Teams

The Rec Softball League will open its season on May 21 with seven teams as final plans for the season were completed at a meeting last night at City Hall.

Entries in the circuit this year are Potomac Edison, John Crone; Carling's, Lee Cover; Snyder's Grocery, Dave Lechliter; Old Germans, Jim Dunn; Sports Shoppe, Bill Briner; Old Exports, Bob Shelley; and Post's Playground, Basil Williams.

Circleville Trounces Bayard Nine, 17 To 5

Scoring seven runs in the second and eight more in the fifth, Circleville High's Indians trounced Bayard High, 17-6, yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Circleville.

It was the sixth triumph of the season for the Indians while Bayard now is 1-4 for the season. Carroll Warner scored his sixth pitching win in going the route for Circleville. He also paced the Indians at the plate with three hits including a double and triple. The lineups:

Sanders Defends Hot Springs Open Golf Title Today

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Doug Sanders opens his bid to win a second straight $20,000 Hot Springs Invitational Open Golf Tournament Thursday against one of the toughest fields in the tourney's seven-year history.

No golfer has won the tournament twice.

Big George Bayer played a practice round Wednesday and graded the greens: "Great." He said the course is in the best shape ever, and Marty Furgol, who hasn't missed a Hot Springs Open, agreed.

Six close finishers in Sanders' first victory last year return this year — Jerry Steelsmith, Dave Ragan, Al Geiberger, Art Wall, Buster Cupit and Bob Nichols. None of them finished lower than fifth.

Other golfers contending for a second victory are Julius Boros, who won in 1958, and Bill Collins, who won in 1960.

Rookie Is Hurt In Race Mishap

Kostenuk Hits Bird During Practice Run

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The 17th mishap at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway this spring eliminated rookie Ed Kostenuk, Victoria, B.C., Wednesday from the potential field for the 46th 500-mile race May 30.

The 33-year-old Kostenuk, former Canadian midget car champion, caught a bird in the left eye while on a practice run at about 140 miles per hour. He kept the car on the course.

Physicians said his injuries were temporary but he would not be able to drive in the final qualifications Saturday and Sunday.

The only other driver eliminated in the series of mishaps was Norm Hall of Los Angeles, who crashed Sunday in a qualifying attempt and is recovering from severe injuries.

Plenty of drivers are available. Last tests for newcomers were held Wednesday and there were 22 names, including Kostenuk, on the final list of eligible rookies. Jim Hemmings of North Vernon, Ind., was the last new driver accepted.

Rookies already qualified, subject to the final 10-mile runs this weekend, are grand prix racer Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif.; Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., and Chuck Hulse, Downey, Calif.

Pairings Listed For Region Games

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Executive Secretary Gordon Eismon of the State Secondary Schools Activities Commission Wednesday announced pairings for the West Virginia High School baseball tournament to be held here June 6-8.

First round action will pit the winner of Region 6 against Region 3 winner in the first game followed by contests between Region 8 and Region 7, Region 1 and Region 4 and Region 2 and Region 5.

The semifinals will be held June 7 with the finals set for June 8. Huntington High is defending champion.

Blanks VMI, 13-0

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Richmond pitcher Fran Griffith shut out Virginia Military Institute 13-0 Wednesday and allowed only four hits while striking out 13.

The win gave the Spiders the Big-Five mythical championship and kept Richmond alive in the Southern Conference baseball race with West Virginia.

Jackets Rally In Seventh To Top Vikings, 8-6

Vance Wins Game With 3-Run Homer

David Vance capped a four-run rally in the seventh inning with a three-run homer to win his own ball game as Moorefield High's Yellowjackets came from behind to nip Petersburg High's Vikings, 8-6, in a Potomac Valley Conference baseball game at Petersburg.

Trailing 6-4 as a result of two three-run innings by Petersburg, the Jackets opened their winning rally with one out when Dave Mathias singled and went to second on a passed ball. He moved to third on an overthrow by the catcher and scored on Ralph Keller's fielder's choice. Roger Crites then singled to move Keller to second and Vance smacked a long home run to climax the spurt.

Mathias also hit for the circuit for Moorefield in the sixth inning while Charles Fisher pounded out a solo blast for Petersburg in the fourth inning.

Vance went the route for Moorefield, picking up his third straight win. He whiffed 10 and walked six as the Jackets won their fourth league start.

Dave Koontz took the loss for Petersburg which has now dropped seven of nine PVC decisions. The lineups:

Ken McBride Stops Birds On Four Hits

Wagner And Thomas Hit Homers; Estrada Loses Fourth Game

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Home runs by Leon Wagner and Lee Thomas paced the Los Angeles Angels to a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night and gave pitcher Ken McBride his second win of the season.

McBride was spinning a two-hitter until the ninth inning when a walk and a hit with none out brought in relief pitcher Jack Spring. Spring struck out Jim Gentile and got Jackie Brandt on a popup before Boog Powell's single drove in a run.

The Angels then brought on Ryne Duren, who struck out pinch-hitter Gus Triandos for the game-ending out.

Mets Top Cubs In 11th, 6 To 5

NEW YORK (UPI)—Felix Mantilla's 11th-inning single with the bases full enabled the New York Mets to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, Wednesday for their second extra-inning triumph in as many days.

Mantilla's blow came off Glen Hobbie, the Cubs' fourth pitcher, although Don Elston was charged with the defeat.

Elston opened the 11th by walking John Demerit and yielding a single to winning pitcher Jay Hook. Jim Hickman sacrificed the runners to second and third and Hobbie took over for Elston. Elio Chacon then was purposely passed to fill the bases and Mantilla broke up the three-hour, 29-minute struggle with a single to left field.

The Mets, who beat the Cubs in 13 innings Tuesday night, trailed by four runs at one point in Wednesday's game.

Tip Top Softball Schedule Announced

Games slated Sunday in the Tip Top Softball League were announced last night. All contests will begin at 4 p.m.

Jimmie's Market will play McIntyre's Grocery at East Side; Penn Avenue will meet Alinco Club at Rolling Mill field; and South End travels to Ellerslie.

Roller Hockey Team Honored At Dinner

Roy Manges, former Fort Hill High School athlete, was the principal speaker at a dinner honoring the Moon Glo Raiders, champions of the Western Pennsylvania Roller Hockey League, held Tuesday night at the Calvin Methodist Church.

Awards were presented to Richard Ross for sportsmanship and to Clifford Ross and assistant coach Ralph Ferguson.

Practice Game Set

The Potomac Edison will play Carling's in a practice softball game today at 6 p. m. at East Side field. Both teams belong to the Rec Softball League.

Toronto 2, Columbus 1

Southern Must Top Keyser To Stay In PVC Title Race

Mathias Is Leader, Paw Paw In Running; Shenandoah At FSTC

Mathias High School leads the Potomac Valley Conference baseball race and the other teams still in the running for the title are Paw Paw and Southern of Oakland.

Coach Hoy Dove's Mathias tossers have won eight and lost two for a percentage of .800 and have ended their season. Paw Paw is 6-2 and could tie Mathis if it can sweep its remaining games with Fort Ashby and Keyser. Southern is 2-1 and must win its five remaining games to finish on top.

One of those important games on the Southern schedule is with Keyser today on the latter's field. Keyser was eliminated from the running when stopped by Paw Paw on Tuesday and if the Golden Tornado can avenge an earlier 6-5 defeat at the hands of the Highlanders the Garrett countains will be eliminated from the title chase.

After Keyser, Southern has two games with Bayard, one with Elk Garden and one with Fort Ashby.

Keyser is in a poristion to register a double knockout if it can whip Southern today and Paw Paw on the latter's field Friday. If such a thing happens Mathias will be champion tomorrow evening. Mathias, incidentally, has bagged the conference title twice in the last three years.

Frostburg State Teachers College goes after its seventh win of the season today when it winds up its series with Shenandoah College, of Winchester, Va., today at 3 p. m., in Frostburg.

The Bobcats have won 6 of 10 games, including a 4-0 decision over Shenandoah.

Reidler, Scott Win Golf Tourney

Jim Reidler and Moe Scott were 2 up on par in the first men's Wednesday night golf tourney at Maplehurst Country Club yesterday. The tournament had the 30 players in match play against par over the nine-hole course with one-half the players' handicaps being counted.

Reidler and Scott tied for the winners' share with their 2 up efforts while Charles Miller finished 1 up for the runner-up spot.

Closets to the pins were J. S. Cook Jr., on No. 4 and Tom Grace on No. 7.

Romano's Homer Wins For Tribe, 10-9

CLEVELAND (UPI) — John Romano's two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth gave the league leading Cleveland Indians a 10-9 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday night.

Twins Defeat Detroit, 8-4

Gain Temporary Tie For Lead

DETROIT (UPI) —The Minnesota Twins, with Vic Power driving in three runs and Camilo Pascual aiding his own cause with two run-scoring singles, moved into a temporary tie for the American League lead Wednesday with an 8-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Power, who has hit safely in seven games since replacing the injured Don Mincher, had three singles in the Twins' 15-hit attack, which enabled Pascual to win his fifth decision against two losses.

Lennie Green aided the Minnesota cause with a pair of doubles and Bob Allison had a double and two singles.

It was the fourth straight victory for the surprising Twins, who finished seventh last year, and fifth in a row over Detroit this season.

Minnesota broke a 2-2 tie off loser Jim Bunning in the fifth when Power singled home two runs.

The Tigers wasted three solo homers. Norm Cash belted his ninth while Rocky Colavito and Steve Boros each hit their first of the season. For Colavito, the long-awaited homer broke a 27-game drought.

Junior High School Invitation Track Meet Set Today

The first three finishers in each event in the county Class A and Class B junior high school track meets last week have been invited to participate in a Junior High School Championship Invitational Track Meet which will be inaugurated today at Fort Hill High School stadium. The meet which will determine the individual county champions for the year will get underway at 3:45 p.m.

Fourteen individual events will be run in the 95-pound, 115-pound and junior unlimited classes, including four relays. Representatives of Allegany, Fort Hill, Beall, Bruce, Mt. Savage, Cresaptown and Oldtown junior highs and Beall Elementary School will participate in today's meet.

Foy A. Curry, assistant principal at Allegany High School, will be the official starter.

Braves To Drill

Cardinals Seeking Altman From Cubs, To Offer Broglio

NEW YORK (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, badly in need of outfield help because of an injury to Minnie Minoso, have made an offer to the Chicago Cubs for George Altman, their hard-hitting outfielder, it was learned Wednesday.

It is believed the Cardinals have offered right-handed pitcher Ernie Broglio, a 20-game winner for the Cardinals two years ago, and outfielder Charlie James for the left-handed hitting Altman. Last year Altman hit .303, with 27 home runs and 96 runs batted in. He also led the league in triples with 12.

This season, the Chicago outfielder is hitting .284, with five home runs and 14 runs batted in.

Broglio was 9-12 for the Cards last year. He was hampered by a sore arm a portion of the season. He was 21-9 the year before, and is 1-0 this year.

Ortiz To Defend Lightweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Carlos Ortiz will defend his newly-won won lightweight championship this summer against either Flash Elorde of the Phillipines or Teruo Kosaka of Japan — and possibly both, it was announced Wednesday.

The 135-pound king is considering offers of $60,000 each for the fights, in Manila or Tokyo.

McGuire's Captures Shuffle Playoffs

McGuire's Tavern, down seven points, rallied last night to beat the Aemrican Legion, 72-61 to win the Frostburg Women's Shuffleboard playoffs by four points. The total score of the six games was McGuire's 127, Legion 123.

Ruth McGuire paced the winners with 14 points while Helen Blocher and Bertha Klink had 12 apiece for the Legion.

Colts Sign Boyd

NBA Meeting Reset May 23

Warrior Shift To Again Be Discussed

NEW YORK (AP) — The off-and-on annual meeting of the National Basketball Association, scheduled to resume Thursday, was postponed until May 23. When the session resumes, San Francisco will make another attempt to gain a franchise.

A spokesman for the league said a proposal by Eddie Gottlieb, owner of the Philadelphia Warriors, to sell to a group that would move his team to the California city will be discussed again.

Gottlieb, who has been offered $850,000 for the Warriors, including super star Wilt Chamberlain, withdrew a request for league approval of the sale earlier this month.

The eastern teams in the league, New York, Boston and Syracuse, insisted that a team be maintained in Philadelphia. Gottlieb's hopes to buy one of the western clubs and move it to Philadelphia fell through and he was unable to come up with a plan for assembling a representative squad by other methods.

Erickson, Miller Post Triumphs

L. E. Erickson defeated J. T. Mason, 1 up in 18 holes, in a second flight match, and Dave Miller downed C. N. Sanner, 5 and 4, in an eighth flight match in the men's spring handicap golf tourney at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday.

Kiwanis To Practice

The Kiwanis Club of the Hot Stove Baseball League will practice Saturday at 2 p.m. at Allegany field.

Market Takes Breather, Closing Slightly Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market took a breather Tuesday, closing just slightly lower in the averages on sharply reduced trading.

With little in the news in the way of fresh incentives, selling pressure was light and the bulls seemed temporarily worn out after their strenuous buying spree of the let two sessions.

Trading contracted to 3,360,000 shares from 4,780,000 on Tuesday and 5,990,000 on Monday. With a total of 1,279 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by the margin of 575 to 468. During the session 13 issues rose to new highs for the year and 31 fell to new lows.

The inclusive Standard & Poor's 500 stock index closed showing a minor loss of 0.02. In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials were off 1.32 but rails rose 0.40, utilities gained 0.46 and the 65 stock composite was ahead 0.07.

At the top of the most active list was American Telephone unchanged, followed by Royal Dutch Petroleum up ¼, General Motors unchanged and Commercial Solvents down 2¼ more after the company was named in a civil suit along with Billie Sol Estes and others alleging they used federal funds in an effort to corner the West Texas market for anhydrous ammonia fertilizer.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Anna Bird, who died 1 year ago, May 17, 1961.
Hold her gently, Jesus,
She was very tired a year ago today,
She tried so hard to hide the pain,
And keep away the tears,
You know how much she suffered, Lord,
You know how many heartaches
Were hidden with a smile.
She knows how much we miss her since she's gone.
So, hold her gently, Jesus,
And we are sure you'll say,
The cross she bore so patiently,
Became her crown one year ago today.

Vote Canvass Due To Make Result Final

Orphans Court Republican Race Only Close Contest

Complete returns on Page 28

Allegany County's primary election, in which 38.8 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots Tuesday will become official today with the canvass at the Court House by the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Election officials said yesterday that 8,143 Republicans or 38 per cent of the 21,427 registered went to the polls Tuesday. In percentage, the Democrats did a little better with 6,670 or 39.8 per cent of the 16,764 registered Democrats. Overall, the voting percentage was 38.8.

The only uncertainty to be resolved by the official canvass will be the determination of the third Republican nominee for Orphans Court judge. The unofficial but complete totals with only the few absentee votes to be added gave Judge J. French Van Meter 2,224 votes to 2,220 for Howard W. Vandegrift in fourth place. Leading in the race are James G. Blair, former Midland magistrate, with 2,306 votes, and Judge Hugh Stevenson with 2,294.

New Committeemen

Tuesday's primary was an election for the Republican and Democratic State Central committees, which are intra-party affairs, and both committees will have some new faces when they organize soon.

Four incumbents on the Republican committee, J. Wallace Close, Melvin S. Sloan, Edgar M. Lewis and Victor M. Hebb, were elected to new four-year terms. Newcomers to the committee will be Mrs. Leah Durst Hafer, who finished a strong second; Leo Fred Dean, Frostburg businessman, who was fifth, and Gerald L. Barb of LaVale, a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company employe, who finished seventh.

Incumbents defeated were Thomas Elias of Frostburg, who was 11th, and Thomas Wright Williams, who was 13th.

The other present committee member, Edward T. Evans Jr., was an unsuccessful aspirant for Republican nomination for the House of Delegates Tuesday.

Three incumbents, William L. Wilson, F. Allan Weatherholt and John Ralph Kelly, all of Cumberland, were elected to new four-year terms on the committee Tuesday. They will be joined by William V. Keegan, former police and fire commissioner of Cumberland; James L. Conlon, local insurance man; J. E. Kenny, who operates a grocery in Westernport, and Edward P. Flanigan, Frostburg trial magistrate. The only incumbent who was unsuccessful Tuesday was William P. Kelly of Lonaconing, who ranked 13th in the field of 18.

New Senator Assured

The only changes already assured among Allegany County officials are in the county's representatives to the General Assembly. A young Cumberland lawyer who has served in the House of Delegates will be the new State Senator from Allegany County in January, regardless of who wins November 6. George R. Hughes Jr. won a convincing victory Tuesday over former State Senator Robert B. Kimble in the Republican primary to gain the right to oppose Democrat William Walsh in November. Mr. Hughes was elected to the House of Delegates in 1954 and Mr. Walsh in 1958.

The Senate victor will succeed Senator Charles M. See, who decided to run for the House of Delegates this year. With Mr. Walsh's decision to run for the Senate and the primary defeat Tuesday of Delegate Estel C. Kelley, at least two new faces are assured in the House of Delegates from this county. J. Glenn Beall Jr., son of the U. S. Senator, was far in front in the Republican primary for six seats in the House of Delegates. Senator See was second. Then came Fred B. Driscoll, Noel Speir Cook and Lester B. Reed, all incumbents. Fred H.

Miracle Mart Opens Today

The Miracle Mart Discount Department Store will open at 10 a. m. today on U. S. 40 in LaVale at the former site of the Super 40 Drive-In Theatre. This view shows almost the entire building and part of the parking lot. Workmen were still erecting the sign on the store front late yesterday when this picture was taken.

Miracle Mart Opens Today In LaVale

The largest in a chain of 13 Miracle Mart Discount Department Stores will be formally opened this morning at 10 a. m. on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale at the site previously occupied by the Super 40 Drive-In theatre.

The all-new, air-conditioned building which will house Miracle Mart covers an area of 60,000 square feet and its facilities are designed to attract the casual or the all-day shopper.

"This is the largest of our 13 stores so far," says Charles J. Kacsur, of Reading, Pa., who will be manager of the local outlet. Kacsur said it has been his experience that many shoppers prefer to stay all day because of the large merchandise field offered.

A blacktopped parking lot surrounding the building is designed for between 800 and 900 cars. The huge Miracle Mart sign weighs eight tons.

Inside, arrangements of displays are convenient and easily located for the self-service shopper and the check-out system set up for quick and efficient operation, Mr. Kacsur said. Four and one-half miles of fluorescent lighting was used inside the building.

More than 100 persons will be employed in the one-stop shopping center which has 50 departments handling merchandise ranging from clothespins to expensive diamond rings. Only nationally-advertised, first quality merchandise if offered, Mr. Kacsur said, adding "We never sell seconds."

For the further convenience of shoppers, Mr. Kacsur said there are no steps to climb since all is on one ground level floor, buggies are available to tote small children through the store and there is a restaurant for those wishing to make shopping an all-day affair.

Store hours will be 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

Miracle Mart will open a similar store in Hagerstown in a few weeks, Kacsur said. Another in Johnstown, Pa., has been in operation a couple of years.

Ridgeley Youth To Be Delegate To Boys State

James Garland Nelson, a senior at Ridgeley High School, will attend Boys State next month at Jacksons Mill.

He is being sponsored by Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion of Ridgeley. Young Nelson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nelson, 27 Blocker Street.

His selection to attend the camp June 30-10 was determined by his grades in the senior class.

Youths from throughout West Virginia will converge at Jacksons Mill. While there the youths will set up their own model government, elect state officials and enact legislation.

Lashley Obtains Six Permits

Six of the first 11 building permits issued this month for construction in Election District 29, LaVale, were obtained by the Lashley Masonry Company of Clarysville for new homes in the Sunset View development.

Five of the six Lashley houses will be of brick and stone construction and the other of brick. Four of them will be built on Sunset Drive and two on Forest Drive.

The LaVale building permits are issued at the Court House by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Board of County Commissioners.

Thomas Izat, 24 Klosterman Addition, obtained a permit to build a 41 by 28 foot asbestos shingle and frame house on George's Creek Boulevard at C Street, Kermit Failinger, RFD 2, Frostburg, obtained a permit to construct a 30 by 42 foot brick dwelling on Gun Club Road. Kenneth Ellsworth, South First Street Park Heights, was granted a permit to build a 25 by 49 foot brick house and garage on Gramlick Road.

Wilbert D. Saylor, RFD 5, obtained a permit for a 20 by 32 foot house with aluminum siding to be build on Lot 70 of Walnut Street, Annan Knolls, off Winchester Road.

Fire Destroys Car Near Ellerslie

An auto belonging to a Hyndman, Pa. resident was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning near Ellerslie, firemen said.

Volunteers of that community received a call about 12:45 a. m. and traveled a half mile to the scene of the fire which destroyed Vernon Lowery's MG sports car.

Nine firefighters responded to the call. They said the fire occurred along the highway between Ellerslie and Corriganville.

Church Building Fund Meeting Set Tonight

City Manager Petitions Are Being Checked

Petitions for a referendum on the Council-Manager form of government were presented to the City of Cumberland yesterday and City Hall staffers immediately began validating the signatures.

The work is being expedited by the City Clerk's office staff so plans can be carried out to place the issue on the June 19 general election ballot if the count shows that petitions contain the names of 20 per cent of the city's registered voters.

The stack of petitions was presented yesterday at noon to City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery by a Jaycee delegation headed by Frederick J. Hill, retiring president, and John D. May, president.

No accurate count of names was available yesterday, but City Hall staffers said there could be up to 4,000 signers on the petitions.

Under the city's home rule law, the Mayor and Council may put the issue to the people at the next regular municipal election on May 19 or at a special election if petitions include sufficient names.

The exact number of names required was not known early yesterday, but City Hall staffers estimated that the last minute registration which ended Tuesday swelled registration rolls to from 10,300 to 10,500.

Jaycees were confident that they had secured enough names to get the issue on the ballot.

The Mayor and Council this Monday authorized Mr. Ullery and City Solicitor William R. Carscaden to validate the petitions and to report on the name count at Monday's Council meeting.

If the petitions are found to contain the names of some 2,100 registered voters, it is considered likely that Council will adopt a resolution Monday to have the Council-Manager resolution placed on the June 19 ballot.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Scully, 134 Cottage Street, Lewiston, Maine, announce the birth of a son Tuesday at Central Maine General Hospital. The parents are former residents of LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wratchford, 1137 B Avenue, National City, Calif., announce the birth of a daughter there Tuesday. The mother is the former Carol Mayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mayne, Winfield Road. The father, who is stationed with the Navy at San Diego, Calif., is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Wrachford, Winfield Road.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Shaffer, 111 Massachusetts Avenue, a son yesterday.

Street Resurfacing Work Continues

A leveling course was applied to South Centre, South Mechanic, Harrison and Union streets during the morning.

Work was halted for a while by rain, and then crews moved to north of Baltimore Street for work which included the final "smooth-seal" blacktop coat on Henry Street.

Several streets will get their final surface today.

Thefts Reported To Local Police

Annual Red Cross Dinner Scheduled Here Tuesday

MISS SUE C. BEHRENS

The annual dinner meeting of Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Guest speaker will be Miss Sue C. Behrens, international relations officer who has been on the national Red Cross staff since April 1961.

She joined the Red Cross in October 1953 as one of the first contingent of clubmobile workers in Korea under the present program of Supplemental Recreational Activities Overseas.

Invocation at the dinner will be given by Rabbi Max Selinger, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim congregation.

Mrs. Harry Beneman will lead the salute to the flag and "America" will be played by Mrs. William Ryan at the piano.

Toastmaster will be Robert Little Ebert, chairman of the Board of Directors. Rev. Levi Zeigler will give the secretary's report; Mrs. Norman Geatz Sr. the treasurer's report and Rev. William J. Cox the report of the nominating committee.

The presentation of a Red Cross nursing pin will be made by Miss Christine Williams and Mr. Ebert will present Motor Corps certificates.

The capping of Gray Ladies will be in charge of Mrs. Edward Naughton, chairman, Frank O'Connor, field representative from the Eastern Area Office in Alexandria, Va. and Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the chapter.

Junior Red Cross presentations will be made by Miss Margaret Doak, chairman of the Junior Red Cross. About 75 volunteers of the county area will be presented service bars in recognition of service of five to 45 years, said Mrs. Lindsay.

For the first time volunteers of the Frostburg Branch and the Westernport-Luke Branch will receive service bars.

Special music will be provided by "The Cumberbunds," after which the guest speaker will be introduced.

In June 1954, Miss Behrens was appointed SRAO coordinator at Far East Area headquarters in Tokyo. She returned to the United States in July 1955 and two months later went to Europe as a recreation worker in the SRAO

New Telephone Center To Open On June 17

A new telephone exchange to serve customers in Cresaptown, Bowling Green, Potomac Park and a portion of LaVale will be put into service on Sunday, June 17, according to William F. Campbell, local manager for the C&P Telephone Company.

The exchange will use the numbers 729 and will serve approximately 2,500 customers and take some of the load off the central office in Cumberland, Mr. Campbell said.

A new building to house the dial equipment for the 729 exchange has been constructed in the Cresaptown area and work nearly has been completed on the final installation of the equipment.

The telephone company plans to issue a supplement book which will contain all the new numbers in the exchange. The supplement will be distributed between June 6 and 16 to all customers in the Cumberland area.

The official conversion to the new exchange will take place 12:05 a. m. on June 17, Mr. Campbell said.

Enough Water Saved To Supply New Industry

Leakage amounting to 470,850,000 gallons of water each year—enough to supply the city's needs for 47 days—were discovered during the recent water waste survey, according to G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric light.

The figure was given in the final report on the Pitometer Water Waste Survey.

E. Shaw Cole, Pitometer Associates president, said the leakage, which totaled 1,290,000 gallons each day, represents an annual savings of about $23,500 a year, based on an estimated treatment cost of five cents for each 1,000 gallons of water.

The total annual savings resulting from the survey was estimated at $55,400, which includes the $31,900 additional revenue the city will get each year from correctly operating meters.

During the survey conducted by John C. dePenning, Pitometer engieer, all large industrial and commercial meters were checked, and seven were found to be registering incorrectly. Six of the big meters were slow, and one was registering low by 190,000 gallons a day.

The loss from under-registering water meters of large users, Mr. Light said, was found to be 350,000 gallons a day—enough to boost the Water Department's revenues by $31,900 a year.

Mr. Light said the firm, in estimating tht savings of $55,400 a year will result from the survey, took no account of the increased amount of water now available for the city as a result of the repaired leakage.

The saved water amounts to more than half of the daily water needs of the huge Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, and means that the City of Cumberland could safely meet the needs of another major industry.

Fire Is Checked On Williams St.

A fire at 357 Williams Street was extinguished last night by firemen from South End station who received a call about 9:45 p. m.

The blaze was confined to a small building which was formerly a garage and reportedly remodeled into a printing shop. The fire apparently was not too serious.

Sentence Suspended In Stabbing

Susan A. Bates Found Guilty

Susan Adele Bates, 29, of 330 Estella Street, yesterday was given a one-year suspended sentence in the stabbing of a local man at her home on May 1.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett imposed the sentence on the Bates woman after he found her guilty of assaulting Raymond Cleggett, 37, of 116 South Lee Street.

The sentence was suspended on the strict condition the Bates woman and Cleggett stay away from each other in the future.

Cleggett received two stab wounds in the back following an argument in the kitchen of the Bates woman's home and was hospitalized for 10 days. She testified yesterday she used the knife in self defense after Cleggett struck her in the face.

Also testifying at yesterday's hearing were Captain James E. Van of the City Police and Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator. The case was prosecuted by Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney.

Tawes Wins, Now Must Unite Party

Mahoney Gets Worst Beating, Barely Finishes Second

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. Millard Tawes, a lifelong political pacifier, started picking up the pieces Wednesday from another rending Democratic primary and prepared for his bid for a second term as governor of Maryland against the Republicans.

One of the first to figuratively rub his hands in glee at ability of Gov. Tawes to collect only 43 per cent of the votes cast in Tuesday's primary was Theodore R. McKeldin, former two-term Republican governor.

McKeldin pointed to the Tawes vote of 177, 109 as compared with the 243,023 cast for George P. Mahoney and David Hume, two of six contenders defeated by Tawes.

McKeldin made no bones about viewing the Mahoney-Hume votes as potential Republicans come November. He is well aware of the need for Republican candidates to woo Democrats who hold a 2½ to 1 registered majority.

The Democratic party never has been the same after a primary involving Mahoney. And he has been in every one since 1950.

Mahoney's Worst Defeat

Hume, little known outside the innermost party circles, polled 118,209 votes to Mahoney's 124,814. Hume, a Texan and practicing lawyer in Washington, won three of the 23 counties while Mahoney took none.

Mahoney, 60-year-old paving contractor in Baltimore, scored his only victories in four of the city's six districts.

The nomination was decided on a unit vote system which pays no attention to popular pluralities except to award all to the leader in each county and city district. On that basis, the 68-year-old Tawes was a more impressive winner with 103 units to 28 for Mahoney and 21 for Hume.

In his 1958 election, Tawes licked another ex-Republican Congressman, James P. S. Devereux, by a record-breaking majority of 206,888. Tawes won his primary that year against three lightly regarded rivals by 261,000.

Only half of the registered Democrats voted in the primary.

Brewster vs. Miller

The Democrats will pin their hopes on gaining the Senate seat being vacated by John Marshall Butler on 38-year-old Daniel B. Brewster. He won nomination on the Tawes ticket after two terms in the House of Representatives.

The Republican choice is Edward T. Miller, trying to make a comeback at age 67. He served six terms in the House until four years ago.

The Democrats will have five incumbents and the Republicans one running for the House. A new eighth seat will pit Carlton R. Sickles, 40-year-old Democrat, against Newton I. Steers, 47, whose wife is the stepsister of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

"New Faces" Sought

The nomination's of Sickles and Steers were a pair of several signposts that voters were casting about for new faces.

Allegany Yearbooks Distributed

Sharon Cunningham, a sports editor of the 1962 allegewi, Allegany High School yearbook, presents the first copy to Foy A. Curry, assistant principal at Allegany, to whom this year's edition is dedicated. Looking on are Anne Brinsmade, editor, and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal. Nine hundred fifty copies of the 160-page annual were distributed yesterday. Other staff members are Donna Rice, senior editor; Janet Helmstetter, faculty editor; Kay Powers, Patty Trozzo, Pat Shipley, underclass editors; Cheryl Pence, Carol Kemp, organiztions editors; Richard Sindy, sports; Barbara Viands, features; Wilma Nunamaker, advertising manager; Eleanor Kerr, business manager, and Mary Lou Fridinger, circulation manager.

Principals Promoted

These two principals in Allegany County schools will be promoted to larger schools at the end of the current school year. Dr. Wayne W. Hill, left, now ending his ninth year as principal of Beall High School, was appointed Tuesday as the new principal of Fort Hill High School. He will be succeeded by Joseph H. Pellerzi, right, who has been principal at Mt. Savage Elementary and High School for the past year-and-a-half. Previously, Mr. Pellerzi was principal at Oldtown for three-and-one-half years. Both principals formerly taught at Fort Hill High School.
